NO DOGS IN DEER CHASE

According to a statement issued by O. F. Turner, deputy game warden of Pendleton, it is unlawful to hunt deer with dogs. As the official notice implies, the rumor is prevalent that dogs may be used to pursue the fleet-footed animal, but the attorney general has ruled otherwise. In fact, it was the general impression in this city that dogs could be put on the chase this year and not thereby incur the wrath of the game wardens. However, the following official notice from the game warden department of the state dispels all such privileges:

Warning to Hunters.

As the impression, that it is lawful to kill deer pursued by dogs during the open season, has gone forth, I wish to state that in accordance with a decision rendered by the attorney general, it is unlawful to kill deer pursued by dogs, at any time of the year, and that the law will be rigidly enforced.

R. O. STEPHENSON, State Game and Forestry Warden, By O. F. TURNER, Deputy, Pendleton, Oregon.

To Put in Turning Y.

M. S. Dearborn, right of way inspector for the O. R. & N., arrived in the city Monday evening to look after the grading for the turning Y to be installed here for the convenience of trains, says the Wallowa Sun. He expected to be able to begin work at once, but was forced to await the conveniences of the engineers who have a lot of work to do. The work began yesterday and is progressing rapidly. It is Mr. Dearborn's desire to have the grading done by the time the track-laying crew reaches this city.

MILL IS ASSURED.

Wallowa Will See a Boom Resulting From Mill Activities.

According to the Wallowa Sun, the big $150,000 mill for Wallowa is beginning to take on a material appearance. J. H. and C. H. Minnaugh arrived in the city Friday and are making arrangements to build their houses and take up their residence in Wallowa. They have been looking over the mill site and will probably put in the mill pond this fall, but unless conditions become more favorable than at present it is not probable that the mill will begin operations before spring.

JACOBS IN PHOENIX.

Former Business Man of La Grande Sells Arizona Ranch and Cattle.

Fred Jacobs, who has been resuscitating in the wilds of Arizona, has improved in health to such an extent that the attractions of Phoenix are too strong and he has sold his ranch and will take to city life again. Since leaving here Mr. Jacobs has improved in health rapidly, but is still firm in his decision to remain in the alkali dust until the last symptoms of his disease leave him. Having sold his ranch and cattle he will move to the city of Phoenix to assume some business, class yet undecided, according to a letter received from him.
