They Take the Kinks Out.

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for many years, with increasing satisfaction. They take the kinks out of stomach, liver and bowels, without fuss or friction," says N. H. Brown, of Pittsfield, Vt. Guaranteed satisfactory at Newlin's drug store. 25c.

Beware of him, who without cause, develops a sudden friendship for you.

NEW SEATS DELAYED

For a week or so after school opens Superintendent Hockenberry will have a problem on his hands to properly handle the students who rightfully belong to the newly constructed addition to the North Side building. Through neglect by the manufacturers, the seats for the upper floor in the new building, have not arrived, and it will require approximately a week's time after they do reach here to get them up properly. In the interim the superintendent will have to accommodate the six grades which should go to the new rooms, somewhere else. About the same arrangement will be made that existed last spring.

The seats were ordered in July and have not reached here yet, thus assuring the school board that a mis-shipment or delayed transportation is to blame.

COLONISTS KEEP COMING.

Large Percentage of Home-seekers Come through on No. 5.

Practically every night since the colonist ritts from the east went into effect, No. 5, the westbound passenger train, has come to La Grande in two sections. This is because a large per centage of the colonist traffic goes through on that train, and the morning westbound is contented with local traffic and the overflow from the trains ahead of it. The direct result of this is that the evening trains are invariably late and the morning train usually on time.

CREDITORS' MEETING.

R. S. Sablin Appointed Trustee in Reo. Hanson Estate.

There was a meeting of the trustees of the estate of Hanson Bros. of North Powder, held in this city yesterday before Referee in Bankruptcy John S. Hodgins. Twenty-eight creditors were represented involving liabilities to the amount of about $9000. Herman Rothchild of North Powder, and C. S. Van Duyn and J. F. Phy of La Grande, were appointed appraisers and R. S. Sablin of Portland, trustee.

TWENTY NEW MEMBERS.

Local Foresters' Lodge Considerably Larger Today Than Before.

Twenty young men of the city were initiated to the mysteries of the local lodge of Foresters last night. Though the number was a large one, the full degrees were not given all the candidates. Those who escaped with only tastes of the "red quill" are inquiring from "Red" Van Fleet today as to details. The large class is the result of recent campaign for new members.

OFFICIALS CELEBRATE.

Recorder and Constable Eat Watermelon as Birthday Treat.

The city offices today enjoyed an abbreviated birthday party. City Recorder D. E. Cox has a birthday anniversary today, and Constable I. W. Faulk also has a birthday party, while conducting his routine business. The latter is 69 years of age and yet spry enough to faithfully fulfill his duties. The only "blowout" he and Mr. Cox had was a watermelon which they ate in peace in the rear of the city jail.

DANCE TOMORROW NIGHT.

Coliseum Skating Rink Open for Dancing Party Friday Night of This Week.

Manager O'Brien of the Coliseum skating rink, announces a dancing party for tomorrow night. Only reputable people will be allowed to attend, as the manager has taken decisive action to withhold objectionable characters from attending. The hall floor is large enough to accommodate everybody.

Many Engines Out.

Though there has been a slight falling off in freight business of late, there is yet enough to keep the round house and the train crews busy. An average of 23 engines are sent out each way, daily, which reflects the amount of work being done.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

Which Will it Be?

Manager Steward, of the Steward opera house, faces a peculiar question, and a friendly suggestion from his patrons will aid him much. He must, in a day or two, give definite decision as to what play Charles B. Hanford will appear in here during the coming opera season. The press agent for Hanford sends the following list of plays, any one of which Hanford will present here in La Grande:

"The Merchant of Venice," "The Winter's Tale," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Othello" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Thus far Mr. Steward has found that the public is divided between one of the comedies and "The Merchant of Venice." He has solicited some expressions and finds that "The Winter's Tale" or "Much Ado About Nothing" about offset the other popular choice. Mr. Steward will defer making a selection for a day or two, and will be pleased to have patrons express themselves. He will abide by the decision of the majority of those who give utterance to a preference.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

Including the Great Marathon Race Won by Hayes of America.

The first picture of the Olympic games shows the athletes in parade before the Prince of Wales and suite and the start at Windsor Castle. The next view is taken at Wembley, where Hayes and Dorando are leading. Next we see them at close range entering the stadium, Dorando first. Just as the latter reaches the track, however, he goes down in a heap, but is quickly assisted to his feet and fairly carried by the attendants over the tape. Then along comes Hayes, and finishes without the aid of any one, and seems to have plenty of vitality to spare for a longer distance. The distribution of the prizes is the next picture, and we see the queen at close range. When Hayes very modestly steps up to receive his he is fairly carried off his feet by his admiring friends.

This great picture is supported by another film depicting the other Olympic games, including the high jump, hurdle races, swimming and water sports.

"Black and White" is a great comedy. "Heard Over the Phone" is Edison's latest, a beautiful photograph, and very dramatic.

"A Dozen Fresh Eggs" is the very latest thing in the way of a surprise package.

Mr. Burton will be heard again in pictured melodies, and Mr. Hatt incoon-songs.

At the Sherwood.

Tonight's change of program at the Sherwood contains two really and truly feature numbers. The first one, "The Village Gossip," shows what complications and heart breaking troubles a gossiping tongue can bring to innocent people; it also demonstrates the oft-repeated fact that right and truth will in time become victorious. The other great number is "Mr. Puz." This is a mystery bill, one which is replete with sudden changes and optical delusions, which come in such rapid succession that the spectators wonder if they can believe their eyes. The songs are pleasing and before the week is over the tunes will be whistled by every boy in town.

At the Seenic.

The scenic views "From the Jordan to Damascus" alone are worth many times the price of admission. To view the many scenes which the artist has so successfully prepared for you with the help of the camera and lantern, is almost equal to a trip through foreign land. One must of necessity come away with a better idea of that ancient land. The other numbers are all pleasing, and the songs are better than the average. The pictures have enough life and vigor in them to cause the audience to feel that they are watching real actors playing on a real stage instead of simply all shadows.
