FENCE OUT WILD BEASTS

Wallawa, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—

Fencing the range to protect sheep from the attacks of predatory animals has met with excellent results in the Wallawa National forest, Oregon. The problem was to find a strong fence that would make the sheep secure, even without the care of a herder.

The chosen fence, which is built of woven wire with barbed wire on the top, has kept out all the minor animals, such as wildcats, lynx and coyotes, but has not withstood the attacks of the grizzlies, which are apparently able to pass through it with little trouble.

Sheep numbering 2200 head were placed in the enclosure with their lambs upon June 26th, and have been allowed to graze at their free will with no attention whatever from any herder. They have done splendidly and as far as the observation of those in charge of the experiment goes, a given acre grazed by sheep under such conditions will carry more sheep per acre than one grazed under the charge of a herder.

predatory animals come to the fence constantly and follow it around but, with the exception of the bears, do not seem able to enter.

The hunter employed by the service for hunting predatory animals in the vicinity of this fenced enclosure, has killed no less than six large grizzlies this season, besides numerous other animals of the predatory class.

The results of this experiment are so satisfactory thus far that private individuals are profiting by it. J. W. Emmons of Troy, Ore., has a large area of private land fenced with a special wire fence, in which he has this season lamed a herd of 670 ewes without a herder's care and with very little attention and great success. Mr. Emmons is extending his fence, for he finds that it pays.

Careful record will be kept of the weights of lambs raised inside this fence with a view of comparing them with the same grade of lambs raised outside the fence on same class of range, so that any gains or losses in weight and growth may be determined.

EMPLOYEES DODGE POLITICS.

No Reinstatement if Would-Be Politicians Are Defeated.

Washington, Sept. 12.—A solemn warning has been issued by the civil service commission to the army of government employes in Washington and elsewhere against side-stepping their work for Uncle Sam in order to indulge in the seductive game of politics.

It seems that in past campaigns it has been the practice of a good many government officials and clerks to resign so that they may run for office in their home communities, or otherwise become actively engaged in political work, then to be reinstated after election day—if the job still looks good to them.

But this year there will be no reinstatements, says the commission. The order reads as follows:

"The commission desires to inform each of the departments and independent executive offices of its attitude toward employes in the classified service who resign to become candidates for office or to engage in active political work, and who afterward seek reinstatement.

"In as much as the issuance of a certificate is discretionary with the commission, no certificate will be issued in any case where the party seeking reinstatement resigned with a view of running for office, or indulging in a degree of political activity which would be prohibited if he had remained in the service and afterward, having failed in his candidacy, or having indulged in the contemplated political activity, seeks reinstatement."

The City Council.

The city council met in regular session last Saturday night. In addition to the regular routine business, a committee of three, consisting of Councilmen Hutchinson, Dalton and McIntosh was appointed to look up the necessary legal steps to change the city charter in order that the city may be bonded for $25,000 for the purpose of installing an electric light plant. The license for electric shows was fixed at $6 per month.

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daley, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong. He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it is my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Newlin's drug store.

Excellent Health Advice.

Mrs. M. M. Davison of No. 379 Girford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says: "The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy, for headache, biliousness and torpor of the liver and bowels is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under guarantee at Newlin's drug store. 60c.
