How To Be Happy

A bin full of flower and a shed full of first-class dry chain wood is enough to make any man happy. Now the way to fill the bin is to phone Mr. V. E. BEAN to first fill the shed, which be done for just half the cost of other fuel. This would leave you plenty for the flour and would help buy the beefsteak and clothes
as well

LETTER TO THE PEOPLE

Island City, Sept. 15.—(To the Citizens of Union County.)—The 19th annual exposition of the First Eastern Oregon District Agricultural Society will be held at the fair grounds between Island City and La Grande on September 23, continuing four days. The management requests you to bring your fruit, vegetables, needlework and stock of all kinds. We ask you to do this for the benefit of Union county. We have one of the best counties in the state of Oregon or any other state, and if you will give a helping hand by bringing whatever you have, that is meritorious, we can have as good a display as can be had anywhere. It is up to you. We will try and do our part. There will be no gate receipts for exhibitors. All we ask is your presence and good will. Do not expect four men to do it all. We give our time without a cent of pay and you get the $1000 in premium money. Had we laid down, the $1000 would have gone back to the state. We will say this that unless the citizens of Union county show a different disposition toward this association, it will be like the Union County Agricultural society—a thing of the past.

Respectfully yours,
BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
First Eastern Oregon District Agricultural Society.

FAIR OPENS FAVORABLY

Salem, Ore., Sept. 14.—Weather and other conditions could not have been more ideal for the opening day of the big state fair. A light cool breeze is blowing from the west and the sky is overcast with fleecy clouds, which cause a cooling shade over the city and fair grounds, rendering the situation most comfortable for the visitors. Many people came in from both directions on the Southern Pacific and from the north on the Oregon Electric, which has arranged a special schedule of a train each way every hour. An exact count of the attendance to noon could not be obtained, but it is estimated that the crowd will greatly exceed that of the opening day last year. This is no criterion, however, as it rained on the opening day last year.

In order to avoid a jam of people, which would interfere with the work of installing the exhibits and completing decorations, a general admission of 25 cents was charged all sightseers yesterday, and in this manner the crowd was kept out in a measure, but the receipts amounted to quite a sum. Putting in the exhibits and making the finishing touches is practically done, and the big fair was more ready this morning than ever before to receive the first day's crowds.

STOKES HERE

J. G. Phelps Stokes, the millionaire socialist, arrived this morning from Vate and will address the public on the street this evening. If weather permits. If not favorable, La Grande will not be favored enough to hear him, as he goes west tonight. Mr. Stokes is noted all over the United States and is a capable speaker. His subject will be socialism.
