DID WEAR DIRECTOIRE

Walla Walla, Sept. 15.—(Special.) —With an occasional glimpse of a very shapely limb covered with pale pink tights, and peeping out at them from between the slit in a directoire gown, the business men of Seattle were given a genuine surprise when they appeared at the Commercial club rooms in Walla Walla Wednesday night for the reception that was tendered them by the business men of Walla Walla. But their surprise was even more genuine when the beautiful young lady wearing the slashed skirt, approached them, one after the other, and pinned upon the lapel of their coats a small blue ribbon.

Her mission complete, the young lady withdrew from the room, and it was not until after the last fleeting glimpse of the young lady was obtained that the visitors took occasion to read the wording upon the badges.

Until that moment their eyes had been busy looking elsewhere.

On the badges was the inscription,
"Walla Walla County Fair, October 12 to 17. Boost for it with the Seattle Spirit." A long hearty laugh went up when the visitors from Seattle realized what a neat little advertising scheme had been worked upon them, but from the manner in which they enjoyed it, they certainly would have made no objections to a repetition.

And the identity of the young lady?
That is the all absorbing question in Walla Walla at present. Peculiar as it may seem, everybody was so interested in the gown that was worn, that no one paid any attention to the girl's face. True, it was heavily veiled, but had the curiosity as to her identity have been strong at that time, there would have been some way of finding out just who the young lady was. But those present were all interested in something else at that time, and the girl was allowed to escape without her name becoming known.
The only man who does know is Secretary Robert Johnson of the Fair association, but he claims he promised the girl, upon his honor, not to reveal her name. He says, however, that she is a well known society girl of the Garden City.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.
A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." A. T. Hill, druggist.
