COMMISSION AT HAINES.

Oregon Railroad Commission to Probe Haines Stockyard Deal.

"The other two members of the state railroad, commission will be at Haines on October 10," said Clyde B. Aitchison, a member of the commission this morning as passenger train No. 6 left the Baker City station, according to the Herald.

The reason for the commission coming to eastern Oregon on the above mentioned date is to adjust a stockyards controversy which is on between the railroad, city officials of Haines and the shippers. Shippers and city officers contend that the yards are inadequate for business transacted and the railroad stands pat on the point that the yards are all right.

Mr. Aitchison was accompanied by his wife and baby. He is on his way to Washington, D. C., to attend a meeting of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, and while he is so occupied his family will visit in Indiana.

In speaking of the Baker City freight rates Mr. Aitchison said as soon as the Portland cases were adjusted he anticipated that Baker merchants would again file their complaints with the board, and he gave assurance that prompt attention would be given them.

WHICH BILL

would you prefer to pay? A good stiff one to the doctor for curing some of your family of pneumonia or rheumatism or our modest one for the coal which would have prevented the illness? Think it over. Then give us the order for coal. Do it soon, too. Even a little chill may mean a big bill—for the doctor.

POOR MAURICE AGAIN.

Out of Jail Only to Be Nabbed and Re-incarcerated.

Maurice O. Fitzmaurice was presented with a lemon at Lewiston yesterday according to dispatches from that city. Washington officers seem to have been a bit too shrewd for the attorney-lecturer-editor who was fighting extradition upon charges of criminal libel.

Fitzmaurice had employed attorneys to sue out a writ of habeas corpus, thus seeking his freedom. The Washington officers, however, were quite equal to the occasion and withdrew their charges. Then Fitzmaurice walked out of the jail a free man. But the action of the Washington officers was simply an artistic conception. They hadn't the slightest intention of giving up their threatened prosecution, but the action threw Fitzmaurice off his guard.

Serenely at peace with the world, and communing with nature and his soul, the lecturer-editor-attorney celebrated his release by taking a long walk and breathing deeply of the air of freedom.

During his rambles he happened to cross the Asotin bridge and entered the state of Washington. He had no sooner stepped upon the soil of that great commonwealth than an officer who had been anticipating some such peregrination upon the part of the editor, placed him under arrest. He will now be taken at once to Pomeroy to face the charges made by his editorial rival.
