Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold. A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Ind., writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." A. T. Hill, druggist.

RE-NEW FIGHT

The Hawaiian delegation introduced a resolution deprecating the "disappearance of the American flag from the Pacific ocean," and urging the government to create a ship subsidy for the development of shipping interests in the Pacific. It says the Japanese captured the trans-Pacific trade and that the American government must meet its obligation to sustain itself in competition which has driven ships bearing the Stars and Stripes out of business.

Peter Loggie, of North Bend, Ore., introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a board of engineers to improve the harbor at Coos Bay with a view of fortifying the entrance, and making the harbor a coaling station for vessels in time of war. A. B. Wastel, secretary of the Oregon Lumber association, sounded the first gun in the fight to be made by the association against the high lumber rate prevailing on the Pacific coast, by introduction of a resolution calling for the enactment of a law by congress giving the interstate commerce commission power to suspend and investigate advances in freight rates before they become effective.

TAFT AND HITCHCOCK CONFER.

No Truth in Report That Roosevelt Will Control Campaign.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Taft and Hitchcock held a long conference today. Washington reports that Roosevelt had assumed personal control of the campaign, is said to be groundless. It is undecided whether Roosevelt will take the stump at the end of the campaign or not.

Injured in Auto Wreck.

Pasadena, Cal., Oct. 7.—William E. Nelson, a Spokane millionaire, is severely and probably fatally injured today when he lost control of an electric runabout, colliding with the wall of a brick building here. His right arm and collar bone are broken, and his head gashed. He is probably internally injured.

TAFT COMES FROM GOOD STOCK

Family Ranked Among the Plain People for Many Years.

The Tafts—those who at present are the Tafts—hall ancestrally from Uxbridge, Mass. They say that Tafts are so thick in Uxbridge that even a worm can't throw a stone without hitting one.

Some years ago—in 1874, to be exact—there was a Taft reunion in Uxbridge, to which descendants of the original Robert Taft came flocking from all parts of the country. One of the conspicuous features of the affair was a historical address by Alphonso Taft, father of the present Republican candidate. He traced the history of various branches of the family, and when he came to the one to which he and his children belonged he said:

"Our family have not embarked much upon national politics, except that they have shared in the battles of the country when national independence was to be won, and also when the Union was at stake. But brilliant political careers have not been characteristic of the Tafts in the past. It is not safe to say what may be in store for them. There is a tide in the affairs of men and also of families."

This is taken from the account of the reunion published at the time. Alphonso Taft would perhaps have been somewhat dazzled if he could have foreseen how quickly and brilliantly the family would proceed to "embark upon national politics." He himself started the turn of the tide which he predicted. It seems to be reaching its flood in the career of the son who that year was entering Yale.

As Alphonso Taft described his immediate ancestors one sees where his son got certain characteristics. Peter Taft (1715) was "a large, good-looking man of magnanimous disposition." He had four sons.

Aaron, the candidate's ancestor, was also so magnanimous that he lost money by indorsing a friend's notes; he was a man "of great intelligence and integrity." And then, going somewhat further back, there was Captain William Taft, who took Blarney Castle in the sixteenth century "by blarney quite as much as by military prowess." Good stock was Captain William from which to make a twentieth century Secretary of War William.
