EXCELLENT ATTRACTIONS ON LOCAL PLAYHOUSE CARDS

It is generally conceded that theatrical people, particularly those who are connected with the business staff, are spendthrifts when it comes to advertising. Nearly every showman has his hobby to attract public attention to his play and various methods are adopted to sway the public. But what appears to be a unique method of spending money for theatrical publicity was invented by Elmer Walters—practically throwing to the birds, Mr. Dr. Bancroft will be ably assisted

Dr. Bancroft and Miss Lewis, Who Are Coming to La Grande Soon.

Walters, among other successful plays, is the owner of "A Millionaire Tramp," and, as the title suggests a spendthrift. Mr. Walters, six years ago, conceived the idea of having his millionaire vagabond throw money from a carriage on the day of the show.

Every day during the season Mr. Walters' idea is put into execution, the advertising scheme having won the show many friends. It never occurred to Mr. Walters to figure the sum of money actually thrown into the street since the initial performance of the play until, questioned as to the amount by a newspaper man, date books and daily reports of expenditures were gone over for six years and total amount figured just $13,250; $2295 a year or an average of $9 per day. At the Steward Friday, November 20.

Whom and How to Love. Dr. Bancroft will in his famous psychological lecture, "Hoodooos," explain scientifically and beyond a doubt many a man's superstitions and expose the law pertaining to a great amount of mysterious phenomena, when the noted lecturer comes here, soon. Dr. Bancroft will also present his humorous sketch, "When, Whom and How to Love," a musical lecture novelty and a laugh producer of great magnitude.

Dr. Bancroft will be ably assisted each evening by the charming singer, Miss Lewis, in a brilliant and versatile repertoire of literary and vocal gems, character sketches, impersonations, etc.

The entertainment of Dr. Bancroft and Miss Lewis is an intellectual treat such as the people of this city never before enjoyed. The doctor has an excellent voice, a commanding appearance, and an excellent delivery. A vast amount of scientific information, full of quick, sparkling wit. His pure and simple language makes his lectures enjoyable to men of ripened years and wide learning, as also the youngest people.

A Realistic Romance. "Texas," a realistic romance of the great southwest, will be given here soon. The play is in four acts and tells a dainty love story in a piquant and delightful manner. "Texas" found great favor in New York city, where it played with great success for 20 weeks. The play abounds with strong situations, but it also has delightful comedy scenes, as well as those of tender sentiment. Most of the original cast and production will be seen in this city. The play has been pro-

Brandon will both appear, but in different acts. The Lyric. Manager Baker played three shows again last evening to capacity. His style of entertainment seems to be the sort that pleases. The pictures were duced under the personal supervision of the author, and will be presented at the Steward oper house, matinee and evening, Saturday, November 21.

The Scenic. To all whose tendencies turn to things mechanical, certainly enjoyed the picture entitled the Wood Carver. It was truly an exhibition of skill. Blanch Bishop, in her coon songs and Tamale act, has won first place. The entire program will change this evening, though Blanch Bishop and Helen Last night's program at the Pastime was an especially good one. Mr. Hiatt's songs were up to his usual standard and Mr. Ferrin seemed to be favored with a selection especially adapted to his voice. The pictures were better than usual and taking the entertainment as a whole there was nothing left wanting.
