SEE PLANS OF NEW SCHOOL

Walla Walla, Nov. 19.—The Bulletin said last night:

Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., secretary of Yale university, was the principal speaker at the Educational Congress today. His address being delivered this afternoon. He spoke on the importance of having a private christian institution sufficiently endowed that it may influence in some measure the educational policy of the territory in which it is located. Mr. Stokes argued that one of the things to avoid was the idea that bigness is essential to the success of the college. This idea, he claimed, is the bane of American life.

High standards of education and character should be sought. Mr. Stokes argued that the establishment of a great college would not be antagonistic to the state institutions in this section. He said that such a college as was planned would greatly influence education.

Walla Walla citizens for the first time this morning saw the plans for the new Whitman, a stereopticon being used to project them on a large screen in the chapel. The plans showed up very clearly and the location of the various buildings in relation to those now in existence was easily seen. E. T. Lawrence, a Portland architect, who drew the plans, explained them.

The Educational congress will end this evening with an immense banquet to be served in the Whitman gymnasium to 500 people in honor of Dr. D. K. Pearsons of Chicago, who is expected to make an important announcement regarding his future plans toward Whitman at this gathering. Addresses will be made by other prominent visitors. The banquet will be served by 45 girls and the same number of young men from Whitman college.

North Powder Shipments.

One hundred and four carloads of grain and hay were shipped from North Powder in October, which is an increase over the same month in last year. There was a marked increase in cattle and horses but the shipment of sheep were greatly decreased on account of the lack of dipping facilities. Powder Valley sheepmen are now driving to Baker City to dip and are shipping from this point.—Baker City Democrat.
