MEETS DEATH IN A SEWER

Baker City, Dec. 3.—Frank Burke, a laboring man 55 years of age, was killed this morning at 9 o'clock in a sewer ditch at the corner of Tenth and Center streets. His death was caused by the breaking of a water main which precipitated a cave-in of the bank and Burke was caught while leaning over his shovel in the act of removing dirt from the ditch.

When taken out his head and feet were close together, the heavy weight having forced him down, breaking his back. But he was not removed until 10 o'clock.

As the water main broke and the bank began to cave Gus Rydson and Fred Sturh, who were working with Bruke, had a hard time to get from under the dirt. Rydson was caught above the knees and only for his tremendous vitality and physical power he would have met the same fate as his companion.

Water at once flooded the district. The city water department was called over the 'phone and also a messenger was sent to the city hall, but in some way things were misunderstood and when one of the water department appeared at Center and Tenth streets, he had no key with which to shut off the water. Robert Bettner hastened to the hall and procured necessary wrenches and tools, and Street Superintendent Finley cut off the water at a plug a block away from the accident. It was then necessary to dig a ditch to the sewer in order that surface water left on the ground and in the ditch be carried away.

This all took time, during which Frank Burke lay covered with several tons of earth and water. An anxious crowd soon gathered and when the work of digging out the unfortunate man began probably 500 people were witnesses.

Several men handled shovels rapidly as soon as it was possible and after a large quantity of dirt had been taken from the ditch, the hand of Burke could be seen holding on to the handle of his shovel. It was the death grip for the fingers were tightly clutching the handle. Next uncovered was his coat, and about 30 minutes after work with shovels had begun the form of Frank Burke was removed from its unnatural grave.
