At Tabernacle Tonight.

It is not often that a city of our size has the opportunity of hearing so able and witty an educator and so fascinating an entertainer, as the renowned George G. Bancroft, who will appear at the tabernacle on the nights of Friday and Saturday, the 11th and 12th inst.

Having made a study for years of normal and abnormal mentality, criminology, etc., his liability to see in many's face, form and action a reflection of the mentality and predisposition of man's mind. He has accumulated and exhaustive array of valuable scientific facts, which he presents so pleasingly and startlingly, that to hear him once only assures that you will make strenuous efforts to hear him again. Not alone is Dr.

Prof. Bancroft.

Bancroft a reasoner and teacher, but his wit and humor is startling, original and laugh-producing. His imitations eccentric and true to life, and his instruction is priceless. He leaves you with a practical and new jewel that you may treasure for all time in your eternal store house of memory, not made by hands—the human mind. To hold the key to man's mind became his dream. "To know thyself" became his motto.

Dr. Bancroft is ably assisted each evening by the charming contralto and impersonator, D. Lillian Lewis, in a brilliant and versatile repertoire of vocal and literary gems. Miss Lewis is no novice in the art of platform entertainment. Endowed by nature with an artistic temperament, a sweet voice and a pleasing personality, she has under the constant guidance, and suggestion of the best artists gradually advanced to the enviable position that she holds today.
