MAY TAKE AWAY FACTORY

here and takes a final squint at conditions next Thursday, he will issue the edict which shall be final. As stated, but for the right word at the right moment with the real powers of the corporation, orders would not have been issued this week for removing the only sugar factory in Oregon.

The reason for the desire to move the factory is widespread, and the public is not aware of all of them, but the principal one is that all company lands in this valley are exhausted as far as productiveness of sugar beets is concerned. If water is poured over the fields in the immediate future, the land may yet be valuable for sugar beet purposes. As it is, it does not produce crops that even come near reaching paying proportions.

La Grande will await with the greatest degree of anxiety the final word from the sugar king when he comes here. It is to be hoped that the institution will not go. It is a great payroll organization for La Grande, it is a credit to the city's industrial directory, and should the city lose the factory here, it unquestionably would be a loss and a setback in commercial and industrial lines that would require years to heal.

ELIZA NODINE LOSES

far as the circuit court at this time is concerned, was given the time-honored Nodine case. The court instructed the jury to bring in a verdict in favor of the defendant. W. T. Townley was the defendant, and therefore he is the one most pleased over the outcome of the case.

The litigation was one in which Eliza Nodine sought to recover her dower right in some 2000 acres of land situated between Hot Lake and the town of Union, but Cochran & Cochran, attorneys for Townley, were able to show that she had signed certain deeds with her husband, Fred Nodine, which transferred all her right and title to the property in question. Mrs. Nodine was represented by Lomax & Anderson. It is altogether likely that her attorneys will appeal the case to the supreme court.
