STORM THE WORST YET

Jack Frost today painted plate glass of this city in his myriad designs. With the mercury falling during the forenoon until it touched 9 degrees above zero, a sharp, cold wind blowing the icy snow, La Grande experienced its worst storm of the year today. Following on the rainy season of Sunday, the change was extremely sudden and caught many napping, with the result that colds have been acquired in many instances. But the young blizzard is not one that clogs water pipes, rather, making outside life anything but disagreeable. In sharp contrast to the post-holiday shopping business yesterday, local merchants had little to do, while the storm raged without today. Farmers have come to town only on really urgent matters.

PLAN FOR FIRST BALL

Foreman C. Jackson has issued a call for a special meeting of Rescue Hose company No. 1, this evening, when additional plans for the first annual ball to be given by the company, will be prepared. The fire fighters are "out among 'em" advertising the social affair which is slated for January 15, and they are confident even at this early date of having a large crowd. This will be the first venture into society by the volunteer department, but if propensities for arranging a ball are up to the standard of the "feed" committee which has been in the limelight often, the success of the dance is already assured.

Fever Sores.

Fever sores and old chronic sores should not be healed entirely, but should be kept in healthy condition. This can be done by applying Chamberlain's Salve. This salve has no superior for this purpose. It is also most excellent for chapped hands, sore nipples, burns and diseases of the skin. For sale by all good dealers.

UNIVERSITY STATISTICS.

Nearly all of the big universities of the country will resume today and tomorrow, after the holiday recess. The attendance figures are practically complete, and show that Columbia is now the leading educational institution of the country in the number of pupils enrolled, having surpassed Harvard, which held first place last year.
