INSTALL BONE MEAL MILL

The growth and expansion predicted by The Observer some time ago for the Grande Ronde Meat company's packing plant is already becoming a reality. The latest expansion of the local institution is the installation of a large power green and dry bone meal mill, the products of which will be on sale from now on. The mill, installed and equipped at considerable expense will fill a long-felt want. Up to the present time local dealers have been required to ship green and dry bone meal from the east, retailing it here at small profit on account of the freight rates. From now on local consumers can secure home-made bone meal as the plant is in running order today.

A Necessary Chicken Food.

Chicken and other fowl raisers will welcome the news perhaps more heartily than others. The fact is well established that bone meal is very desirable food for chickens, especially during the winter months, as the chemical composition of the meal is rich in albumen, a requisite food for chickens.

While not a great venture in itself, the new adjunct to the already busy packing plant, is proof positive that the plant is growing and is destined to become the leading plant of its kind in this section of the state. If it does not already occupy that position.

DECLARED INSANE.

Chris Larsen, Well Known in the County for Past 25 Years.

Chris Larsen, a well known resident of the north end of the county, where he at one time owned a farm near Elgin, was found wandering about in a field in the valley yesterday and was brought to the city and after an examination, was declared insane. The guards have been notified and are expected to arrive in the morning. Larsen is about 50 years of age and came to this country about 35 years ago from Denmark. He has no relatives.

POOR FITZMAURICE.

Former La Grande "Preacher" Facing Large Grist of Trials.

Pomeroy, Wash., Jan. 7.—The second hearing of the Fitzmaurice perjury case began yesterday.

This case is one of a series of prosecutions having their origin in a libelous article appearing in the Garfield County Standard in September. This article against one of the prominent citizens of Dayton resulted in criminal proceedings being instituted against A. O. Fitzmaurice, who was editor and proprietor at that time. E. W. Gibson and F. W. D. Mays were also charged with having a hand in writing the article. Gibson and Fitzmaurice were honorably acquitted of the charge, while Mays was convicted upon his own testimony that he wrote the article.

Immediately after the acquittal of Fitzmaurice, Prosecuting Attorney A. A. Kirby issued a warrant for Fitzmaurice, charging him with perjury in testifying in his own case. This perjury case was tried in December, but the jury failed to agree and a new trial was set for January 5. There is more or less popular sympathy with Fitzmaurice.

Earl is Foiled.

San Francisco, Jan. 7.—D. O. Mills, the capitalist, and daughter, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, wife of the American ambassador to England, will go to the country home at Millbrae, near here, to spend the winter. Mills denied the journey to California was for the purpose of avoiding a marriage of his granddaughter to the Earl of Granard. Nevertheless, the presence of Mills here is believed to indicate his disapproval of the earl.

Traffic Tied Up.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The thermometer registered eight above zero at noon today. The snow has crippled traffic, which is now completely tied up. Charity organizations are busy.

Holy Roller "Canned."

San Jose, Cal., Jan. 7.—R. L. Carter, a city engineer and leader of the Holy Roller sect here, was asked to present his resignation, which was accepted by Mayor Davison.
