FRANK FOREMAN DEAD.

Young Man Well Known Here, Succumbs at Lincoln Last Night.

Frank Foreman died at a Lincoln, Neb., hospital at 12 o'clock last night, according to a telegram received by Mr. and Mrs. George L. Cleaver this morning. The death was not unexpected, but nevertheless a shock to the many friends of the deceased and the bereaved family. Mr. Foreman was in the bloom of manhood, aged about 30 years. For several years he was a member of the Bridges Concert company, but one year and a half ago came to La Grande to make his home for nearly a year's time. During his residence in La Grande he had charge of the Methodist church choir, and often appeared in public with vocal solos. His grief-stricken wife, brothers, a sister and parents, who all live at Lincoln, with one exception, have the sympathy of many La Grande friends. Foster Foreman, an employee of the George Palmer Lumber company, left for Lincoln a few days ago and reached the bedside before death overtook his brother. No announcement of funeral arrangements is made in the brief telegram apprising local friends of the untimely death.

Some time ago he was taken ill with heart trouble, and after weeks of suffering was able to leave the hospital. He suffered a relapse and finally died from its effects.

SUFFERING IN PORTLAND.

Worst Storm in History of Oregon's Metropolis Now Raging.

William Miller returned this morning from Portland, where he spent a few days and reports that the metropolis is in the grip of the worst storm in the history of the city. Last evening when Mr. Miller left Portland, it was bitterly cold, though the thermometer stood at 6 above zero.

Street car traffic is practically blocked, only a few of the main thoroughfares being open to traffic. Suburban residents have to walk to and from their places of business. Taken completely by surprise the city is unable to cope with conditions. Nine inches of snow covers the city. As the trains come east they gradually get down to two or three inches of snow, excepting at Kamela, where two feet cover the ground.

BIG WOODMAN COMING.

Head Consul I. L. Boak Will Be in La Grande January 21.

Members of the local camp, W. O. W., have been notified that they will receive an official visit from Head Consul I. L. Boak on Thursday, January 21. At the next regular meeting, Thursday, January 12, the camp will decide upon the form of entertainment which will be tendered him. This is the second time the La Grande camp has been favored by his presence. The first visit was made about three years ago. It is unnecessary to say that the visit here will mean a banner time for the local camp.
