THEATRICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Gold Nuggets—"Stage Props."

Folks who will see Henry Miller's production of what the New York critics have called the "Long awaited 'American play'," "The Great Divide," when it comes to the Steward next Saturday, January 16, will not think that the dark yellow nuggets in the chain which plays such a vital part in the William Vaughn Moody drama are of pure gold from the same section of Arizona in which the fabulously rich Verdi mine, owned by Stephen Ghent in the play was supposed to be situated. Until a year or so ago the chain used was made by the property man and its value was about 75 cents. The one now performing was brought from Tucson to Mr. Miller, and is the result of a resolution made by him more than two years ago. When the acto-manager awoke on the morning after the first New York performance his first $2000 profit from the play for a string of real nuggets taken from the mountains of the territory which furnish the picturesque settings of the play. That amount was placed in a separate bank account to be held intact until it could be devoted to the purpose intended. Gold nuggets of the uniform size desired are not easily obtainable at this distance from the source of supply. Mr. Miller was unable to further his desire until Mr. Moody, the author, had mentioned something about going to Arizona for a three-weeks vacation. It was then when Mr. Miller commissioned the dramatist to buy the nuggets and he succeeded in getting them, though not without a good deal of difficulty. This precious chain does not live in the "prop" trunk with the other portables of "The Great Divide" production, and except when in use on the stage it reposes in a small steel vault which is carried in the personal trunk of the stage manager with the organization.

"Shore Acres" Coming.

When James A. Herne wrote "Shore Acres," he gave to the stage some dramatic literature that had staying qualities. It is doubtful if he had ever contemplated or hoped to bring forth so great a drama as it has proven to be. It has attracted more attention than any play in the last quarter of a century, and it will continue to attract attention for years and years to come. It is on tour this season with a complete new scenic equipment and in addition to this the famous Archie Boyd is playing the leading part, that of Nathaniel Berry, the sturdy, honest New Englander. "Shore Acres" will be seen here at the Steward Wednesday, January 27. The youngest daughter of Mr. Herne, Miss Dorothy, is a member of the company. She is described as being an unusually clever young actress, having inherited much of her distinguished father's talent.

Twenty-Two Stage Pictures.

There are 22 stage pictures in "Babes in Toyland," showing fairyland and every one is the acme of art, the work of the celebrated scenic artist, John Young. These pictures are all so lovely and intricate in design that to decide which is the most gorgeous one must judge for one's self. At the Steward Tuesday, January 19.

S.S.S. RIDS THE SYSTEM OF CATARRH

Catarrh is a blood disease which causes a general inflammation of the inner linings or mucous membranes of the body. The diseasing of these delicate surfaces and tissues produces all the well known symptoms of the trouble, such as ringing noises in the head and ears, tight, stuffy feeling in the nose, pains above the eyes, irritation of the throat, sometimes slight fever, and a general feeling of weakness and ill health. Even the lungs become affected by the continual passage of impure blood through them, and there is danger of consumption if the disease is allowed to remain in the system. S. S. S. cures Catarrh because it purifies the blood. It goes into the circulation and removes every particle of the catarrhal matter, making this vital fluid pure, rich and healthy. Then the inflamed membranes begin to heal, every symptom disappears, the constitution is built up and health restored. S. S. S. rids the system of catarrh by attacking the trouble at its head and entirely removing the cause from the blood, thus making a permanent and lasting cure. S. S. S. is made entirely from health-giving roots, herbs and barks, and for this reason is an especially safe and desirable medicine. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free to all who write.
