

AMUSEMENT

"Shore Acres" January 27. James A. Herne's masterpiece, "Shore Acres," a play that has attracted the attention of millions of players, will soon be here, when it will be on view at the Steward January 27—Wednesday.

...this country has never seen a play that can approach "Shore Acres" in genuine dramatic construction. Mr. Herne was not only a great author, but as a stage director he was a class quite to himself. His one hobby was realism and naturalness on the stage. "Shore Acres" is certainly a faithful representation of country life. There is an underlying current in the play that adds to its great interest—that of sincerity.

Trunk People Entertaining.
The Mystifying Cliffords at the Pastime continue to amaze the audiences with clever trunk and lock tricks. Last evening Mr. Clifford unfettered himself after having been securely locked and fastened about his feet. The release took place in less than 10 minutes. Tomorrow night the Cliffords will do the trunk interchange act in a trunk secured at the air store. A clerk from that store will lock the trunks and retain possession of the key—the only one in town. The team is certainly clever and the time consumed in making the changes is remarkably short. There is a special feature in the orchestra that plays regularly at the Pastime. A new change goes into effect this evening.

The Scenic.
Manager Gardiner has a special offer this week for Scenic patrons. For several weeks he has been making every effort to book "Biff and Bang," the original Suicide Comedians. After many efforts he has at last succeeded and this evening will make their first appearance before a La Grande audience. Their work is absolutely new and novel. An attempt to describe their system of laugh-making would be an endless task, but it is sufficient to say that they are accredited with being the only team on the stage who have demonstrated that they are totally without feeling and are able to produce continuous screams which will last from the moment they appear on the stage until the curtain falls. They are dancers and tumblers of a sort never before seen in this city. See ...them this evening and you will surely arrange for a season ticket at the Scenic.

The pictures this week are on a par with the vaudeville acts and that is saying much. As an additional feature this evening and the rest of the week the Smillett sisters will endeavor to demonstrate to the audience that they are thoroughly boneless. Without doubt this is the strongest bill the Scenic has offered for many weeks.

Alberta Hadley will not be able to appear this evening as per contract, on account of her baggage having been delayed in transit. The railroad company has located her trunks and it is thought that she will be able to appear tomorrow evening.
