SUCCESS.

- * The art of wooing fortune
- * Is not so hard to learn
- * It simply means keep telling
- * While the light holds out to burn.
- * And let no fell reverse
- * Ever throw you off the track.
- * Still clinging fast to courage.
- * Whatever else you lack.
- * The art of wooing fortune.
- * If gold you seek, or fame—
- * For either one or other
- * The rules are quite the same—
- * But means to fix undaunted
- * Your eyes upon the goal
- * And hustle, hustle, hustle.
- * With all your heart and soul!

The Montana university is to be commended in its effort to produce something besides athletics. Twenty of its most prominent athletes were suspended or declared ineligible for the basketball, baseball and track teams of 1935, for the reason they did not bring up their studies to the required standard. Athletics are helpful under proper conditions, but during the past few years it has been given too great a prominence, and the University of Montana has taken the proper course to check it in that school at least.

Mr. Bryan is rapidly recovering from his recent defeat. He has announced that he sees visions of victory for democracy in 1936. While he did not state he would like to lead the forces into another presidential contest, surely with the past as a precedent no one would at this time venture the opinion that he would not.

The State university faculty did a commendatory act this week in suspending a leader of a hazing party. The faculty gave notice of this rule and it was disobeyed. This country has a hazing record in our schools. This being the first offense at Eugene since the order became effective, it will doubtless be the last.

Racing and pool selling in the state of California has received its final blow. The bill having passed both Newlin's drug store.

houses of the legislature by large majorities and Governor Gillette has promised to sign it.

The legislatures of the various states now in session are drawing to a close. Local option has been the most stubbornly fought issue before the sessions of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, and will be until the end.

The two commonwealths, New Mexico and Arizona, are knocking for admission into the sisterhood of states, but it is evident that congress will not receive them at this session.

It is quite evident that this legislature will not pass the bill providing for guaranteeing bank deposits. The committee on banking has made an unfavorable report.

Vice-President Fairbanks has invested in grape and range land in California. One would think he had more experience in red cherries.

IRRIGATION IN CALIFORNIA.

Former La Grande Boy Sees Benefits of Our Project.

A. P. Davis, who lives just east of the city, is the recipient of a letter from Herschel McGinnis, who is now living in the San Joaquin valley, California, where a large irrigation project, quite similar to our proposed project, is being completed. Mr. McGinnis states that land that was worth very little, is now being eagerly sought at from $65 to $200 per acre. This $200 per acre land was formerly wheat land, that about two years out of three raised a fair crop of grain. Mr. McGinnis hopes to see the irrigation project in this valley carried through as he knows it will be beneficial to all.

IS STILL BURNING.

Large Tree Near Summerville Struck by Lightning Last September.

S. N. Smith was in from his home near Summerville this week, and states that last September a large tree near his farm was struck by lightning, which set it afire and after burning nearly five months is still blazing merrily away and promises to continue until the entire tree is consumed.

While the recent laws regarding the leaving of campfires burning has materially reduced the number of forest fires, together with the vigilance of forest rangers, it can be seen how lightning often sets fires which, unprotected, would cause the loss of thousands of dollars' worth of valuable timber.

UP THE RIVER.

County Court Visits Work of Changing County Road.

County Judge Henry and Commissioners Selder and Brown are visiting the road up the river where the channel of the Grande Ronde is being changed to eliminate the keeping in repair of two large bridges. This work is in charge of Bridge Superintendent J. P. Campbell and the court was well pleased with the results accomplished.
