Fortunately we had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and gave it to her according to the printed directions. On the second day she was a great deal better, and on the fifth day, October 23d, she was entirely well of her cold and bronchitis, which I attribute to this splendid medicine. CHIEF LANDS AN ACCUSED

Through the efforts of Chief of Police Walden, Samuel L. Story, who, according to his own stories, hails from Wyoming, but last fall was in Valentine, Neb., and against whom charges of murder have been filed by Valentine officials, is now in the county jail awaiting arrival of a sheriff from the Nebraska town. He will arrive tomorrow some time, as he left Valentine Sunday morning.

Story of the Arrest. A week ago today Chief of Police Walden received a meagerly-worded order to find one Samuel L. Story and arrest him if he tried to leave. Inquiry for additional details brought forth from Valentine, a brief description of the man, saying in a few words his chief characteristics, and apprising the chief here that the fellow was wanted for murder. Again the chief wired back saying that he had located Story at Haines, 40 miles away. Word then came from Valentine to the sheriff's office here, carrying additional description.

While the wires were kept hot with messages, the chief had been busy. He located Story at Haines with a bridge gang, but at the same time that the last message from Valentine was received, learned that the bridge gang had been moved west, to a bridge near Union. This was on Saturday night, and because the sheriff here had received one of the messages from Valentine, Walden asked Childers to accompany him to Union on No. 2 Saturday night. Walden made the arrest without any difficulty and when he returned on the late evening train from the east, turned the prisoner over to the sheriff. According to the telegrams, Story is a notorious character and considerable credit is due the chief for making the round-up without a flaw.

Tells Two Stories. Story's first request, when accosted Saturday night, was to learn on what charge he was held. When told it was for murder at Valentine, he denied ever having been there, telling the chief that his home was in northern Wyoming. But since his arrival here he has confessed that he was in Valentine last fall visiting with his brother, who lives four miles from that place. He says he worked near there and left early last fall for the west. The charge stipulates that one Fred Smith was murdered in the month of October last. While no details of his crime or any definite evidence of his guilt is at hand, local police officers believe the Valentine officials have a strong case against their man. Story is morose but has already mixed his facts in the brief statements made. Since his arrest, a personal letter from Cheyenne has reached here, written by a brother of the prisoner.

A Magnetic Speaker. In the person of Rev. C. P. Bailey, who is conducting revival services in the Baptist church in this city, we have a most magnetic speaker and charming personality. Yesterday was made memorable by two telling sermons, especially so the evening sermon on "The Sufficiency of Revelation." A splendid audience greeted the speaker and listened with rapt attention to the message given with telling effect.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Mr. Bailey will speak on "A Great Question Answered." "What shall I do when God riseth up, and when He visiteth what shall I answer him? The evening praise begins at 7:30. A cordial invitation is extended to all.
