STUB TRAIN SERVICE FROM POCATELLA IN VOGUE TODAY

A dipnitive stub that did service for the Overland passenger, No. 1, passed through La Grande this morning. Storms in the middle west delayed the regular Chicago-Portland train to such an extent that it had to be annulled last night and a stub from Pocatello sent over the O. S. L. and O. R. & N. lines. It was composed of a baggage car, two day coaches and a diner. It carried no mail, either.

O. R. & N. EMPLOYEES MUST BE COURTEOUS, IS ORDERS

The circular says: To Employes on the Line: Courtesy costs nothing and yields large returns. Cordial relations with customers are an asset. You increase this property's value to owners and patrons, as well as the value of your service, by making friends.

SCADDING SENDS OUT PASTORAL

Charles Scadding, bishop of all Oregon for the Episcopal faith, has issued a bishop's Lenten pastoral that might well be entitled a gem. Today in commemoration of Ash Wednesday, the pastoral was read to all congregations of the Episcopal churches in Oregon. The Observer is indebted to Bishop Scadding for a copy of the pastoral:

Oregon is not an irreligious country, but the religious life is lacking in quality. As a watchman set upon the wall it is my duty to sound the note of warning against religious apathy, indifference, the spirit of impiety evidenced in lack of attendance on the part of many at public worship, the dull spiritual inertia of many, making them mere loiterers around the barracks who in baptism were enlisted to fight manfully under Christ's banner, and a practical materialism which disbelieves the teachings of Christ. It would be easy, and in keeping with the spirit of the age, to say these things are but mere figments of the imagination, that being evil they do not exist, and to cry "peace, peace"; but the word of the Lord to Ezekiel rings in my ears: "I have made thee a watchman; therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me."

Oregon is developing rapidly in commercial and material lines; its resources, so largely undeveloped at present, are enormous; and are attracting thousands of settlers in whom the struggle for existence demands an attention to material earthly things of time and sense which tends to dull the realization of eternal realities. In all its forms sin means a misconception of the proportion of things. It is this which condemns so severely the easy-going worldliness which is clear of grosser falls, yet never fastens on life's secret. It is the sin of misconception, of misdirection, of wrong perspective, Round and above us the great work of God moves, presses forward, and steals to its fulfillment. Eternal issues are at stake; voices call us to the work; angels reach out helping hands; the Holy Spirit urges, beseeches, invites. And what are we about? What fleeting interests occupy our attention? On what contemptible littleness is our desire set? What folly it all is! Lost and busy in the thick of occupations that can have no issue, no fruit hereafter, we are in danger of becoming blind to the glory of our eternal destiny in Christ Jesus. Against us, as inevitably as against him who of old saw nothing to do here but to build barns and lay up earthly treasures, it is God Himself who utters the sentence, "Thou fool; how can it profit a man to gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" To rescue the soul from this loss, to release it, to recover it, to pluck it out of the snare, to open a passage by which it may escape into air and light and freedom, to save ourselves from making a fatal miscalculation—that is our Lenten work. That is worth a little pains, a little discipline. It can be done by the power and grace of God. We have no means of knowing what Jesus would do were He here in Oregon and in this age. We know very well what he has told us to do if we have ears to hear. Jesus said: "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily and follow Me." God grant that we may all cherish during this Lenten season each opportunity offered in the frequent services of the church, to get right perspective of life, to see eternal things, to hear the voice of God and not only the din of the world, and to renew and strengthen our Christian character.

Affectionately, your bishop and fellow servant in the Lord, CHARLES SCADDING, Bishop of Oregon. Huge Issue of Seattle Times. On Sunday, February 14, the Seattle Times issued what was claimed to be the largest newspaper ever published. It contained 188 pages and was largely devoted to the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. In addition to the news matter and illustrations the paper contained 650 columns, or 14,298 inches of advertising, representing a value of over $25,000. The paper was issued under the direct supervision of J. Fred Braid, advertising manager of the paper, and reflects much credit on his ability to do things when the opportunity offers.
