MANY AFTER FRUIT LAND

SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES ARE GOOD BOOMERS.

Booster Meetings Being Held in Many Cities This Week

(Portland correspondence).

Meetings under the auspices of the local organizations of the Oregon Development league are being held at Roseburg, Monday, April 5, at Central Point Tuesday, Oakland Wednesday, Cottage Grove Thursday, Eugene Friday, and Oregon City Saturday. The Central Point gathering will have delegations representing the entire Rogue river valley.

As a direct result of the advertising campaign carried on by the Portland Commercial club, of which a feature has been the statement that people can buy their tickets to any point in Oregon just as cheap as to Portland, and the fact that the money is spent in telling of the resources of the state rather than of the attractions of the city, very few correspondents ask about Portland nowadays.

In fact over fifty per cent of all the specific inquiries are about fruit lands. This is true because not only are agriculturists and horticulturists interested, but men in the professional walks of life who want to get out into the open air, find fruit growing especially congenial. Many of this class have been among our most successful growers in various parts of Oregon.

The inquiries about dairying are not numerous, but they come from those actually engaged in the work in other states, and undoubtedly a larger percentage of the dairy letters mean settlers than those of other subjects.

The magnificent work of the citizenship of Oregon, the co-operation of the churches and the schools with the commercial bodies, has influenced nine-tenths of the people who are coming to this state on colonist rates so that they go direct to their place of final settlement, and the congestion felt so keenly at Portland during record-breaking 1907 is almost entirely done away with. As the crowning test of organization, Portland has had such loyal assistance from her business houses and citizens that 500,000 leaflets have gone out in their letters in a single month.

Oregon and other Pacific coast states have an intense interest in the matter of tariff revision, just as do other sections of the country. Numerous resolutions have been adopted by commercial bodies approving a higher import duty on hops.

An enthusiastic Oregonian returning to the East for several months' visit, provided himself in advance with a generous sized note book and kept record of all his travelling acquaintances and all his old friends with whom he talked in different parts of the country. These people are now getting booklets from every part of Oregon through the Portland Commercial club. Others can assist very materially in this way.
