WOULD-BE KIDNAPER ARRESTED

PENDLETON, April 7.—The East Oregonian related last evening: Foiled in his attempt to secure $1,200 from his uncle on a fake kidnaping scheme which he had worked up with himself as the alleged victim, L. A. Raup, aged 29 years and a member of one of Milton's most highly respected families, is now held in the county jail. The uncle whom he sought to blackmail is S. A. Miller, president of the Milton nursery company and former mayor of Milton.

Raup failed to get the money as planned simply because he lost his nerve, as the uncle was about to comply with the demands of the mysterious letter he had received. It is not believed however, that the young man would have been able to make his escape with the money, even though he had secured it.

Threats in Letter.

The letter received by Mr. Miller was not signed, but declared a mysterious "we" had captured his nephew and was holding him for a ransom of $12,000. He was commanded to take this sum of money at 11 o'clock last night, out along the railroad track east from Milton to a point where he would find a dim light. Here he was to deposit the money and after turning the light around, return home, where he was commanded to wait until his nephew appeared before reporting the incident. Failure to comply with the demands of the alleged kidnaper was to be followed by the burning to death of the nephew and also the killing of Mr. Miller's little daughter.

Loses His Nerve.

Yesterday's wind and dust storm, however, was evidently too much for the self-kidnaper for he lost his nerve and appeared at his uncle's house about 8:15 last evening, after having been hid out in a deserted house, the property of his grand-father, Sunday night and all of yesterday. To those at the house he declared he had been seized by two men and taken to a straw stack Sunday night and that he had escaped from his captors while they were drinking and playing cards.

His story of the kidnaping was to the effect that he had left his boarding house to go down town to purchase some tobacco and that he was seized by the alleged kidnapers while on the road. He said his captors were Freewater men.

Raup said he had no intention of carrying out the threats contained in the letter, saying it was his original intention to skip the country. If his attempt to get the money was a failure. This morning he declared that he sought his uncle for the purpose of making a clean breast of the whole affair and that he fixed up the other story after he reached the house and found his uncle was not at home. He says he would not have told the story of the kidnaping, had his uncle been home, but he would have told him the truth.

MORAL YET NO SERMON

The originality of the play, the vivid portrayal of its central role, the even excellence of the cast and the tasteful beauty of the production, are contributing factors in the happy result which Florence Roberts, under John Cort's able management, has reached in her presentation of "The House of Bondage." Those who have had the pleasure of seeing the play declare that Miss Roberts is peculiarly suited, that her company is by far the strongest she has ever had, and that Mr. Cort has mounted the play with generosity and judgment.

"The House of Bondage," which comes here on April 9, is the work of Seymour Obermer end, while it deals with England's select, it hits a subject that is interesting to as high a degree on this side of the Atlantic as the other. It joints not only a moral, but several of them, yet it is not a sermon.
