BLUE SUITS FOR BAND

Dark blue uniforms nattyly trimmed in black braid is the scheme that will characterize the new band uniforms when they reach here for the La Grande band. The selections have been made, and as soon as the orders can be measured they will be sent to the manufacturers. The sum needed to pay for the suits is a trifle below that needed today, but some few donations have been promised. When these subscriptions are sent in there will be money enough on hand to pay for the uniforms. Regulation caps will accompany the uniform r use at such times as the band may appear out of doors. This will lend a color of tone and class to the organization that musically stands alone compared with other bands of the smaller cities of the state.

PEDDLERS VISIT CITY

Amapolsky brothers are peddling dry goods from house to house today. The senior member of the firm applied to Recorder Cox for a license, but wanted two licenses for the price of one. Attorney Baker happened to be present and gave it as his opinion that for each man employed in the peddling it would be necessary to issue a license at two dollars per man. Amapolsky dug up the $4 under protest and said he would try it today.
