BEGIN SURVEY TOMORROW

Engineer Pickler is busy today getting supplies together and making ready to start work on the permanent survey of the Beaver creek pipe line tomorrow. A. J. Eckleson, the civil and hydraulic engineer who is to be Mr. Pickler's assistant, failed to arrive this morning from Portland saying that he will be here tomorrow, but sent a letter this morning.

About 60 days will be consumed in doing both the field and office work, and seven men will be used in running the permanent lines and establishing the grades. Mr. Pickler will take with him a crew of seven men, who will act as his understudies during the survey. Among them are "Doc" Bacon, Dot Snodgrass and Earnest Gust.
