Meadowbrook, the water that made La Grande famous.

The second Sunday in May is Mothers' Day. The purpose of this day is to recall the memories of the mothers that are gone and through loving words and loving care to brighten the lives of the mothers that remain.

The men selected as the board of managers for the irrigation project are all of such high standing as to insure confidence in any enterprise they stand behind.

After the carnival we will begin thinking about the Fourth of July. La Grande will have a celebration this year that will equal anything ever attempted before.

Next Monday the Supreme Court convenes in Pendleton, at which time the case of Julius Roesch vs Union county will be heard.

One of the greatest lessons in life is to learn to take people at their best not their worst; to look for the divine, not the human, in them.

Already there is more building in progress at this season than for several years and before the summer and fall passes the number of new houses erected and under construction will greatly exceed those of any past season.

Look over the list of real estate transfers for the past week which appear in this issue. You will see that land is becoming valuable in Grand Ronde valley.

The more we live for self the less shall we find the value of existence; the more we live for others and out of self, the greater will be the joy and satisfaction of living.

It's a rare man who can be a hero without being a fool about it afterward.

It takes an awful lot of money to convince people they can afford to April 28 marks the beginning of a new epoch for Grand Ronde valley.
