HAPPY IS AT CARNIVAL

"Happy Harrison, the Human Ostrich," is spelling for the free attractions at the carnival. Want to know who "Happy" is? Well, here is a slipping from the Seattle Times of April 3, 1908. "Just because he neglected to fold properly a steel horseshoe nail before swallowing it in the course of one of his daily exhibitions at a local vaudeville theatre, Henry Harrison, otherwise known as "Happy Harrison, the Human Ostrich," is this afternoon lying in a dangerous condition at the Pacific hospital. Harrison was operated on this morning by Dr. E. M. Rininger to save his life from the results of perforation of the intestines that followed the stoppage of the horseshoe nail at the junction of the larger and smaller intestines. The mishap was due to the fact that Harrison carelessly bent the nail in the shape of a fish-hook instead of curling the point under the head as was usual. The offending nail was removed from "Happy's" interior along with it the surgeon gathered up eleven knife blades, five lath nails, six small screws and three tacks that were nesting together in the place where the average man has trouble in digesting such innocuous articles of diet as Welsh rarebits and mince pie. Harrison is a Hebrew, 38 years old, and says he was following the Human Ostrich business for nearly 20 years. That's who "Happy Harrison" is.

GOOD PRICE FOR FARM

J. D. McKennon yesterday purchased the George Ackles 320 acre farm, three miles north of this city, for which he paid $32,000, $100 per acre. This is recognized as one of the best bodies of land in this or any other country and Mr. McKennon has had his eye on this tract for some time. When asked if it was his intention to cut it up into smaller farms, Mr. McKennon replied that it is not his intention; that he bought it to farm, being close to the city, where he could drive out to it within 30 minutes. It is a fine body of land and shows what our real estate is worth, to home people who know values.

Best Treatment for Colds.
"Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "moderate laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to pin your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon?
