MOTHER'S DAY DESTINED TO BECOME ANNUAL EVENT HERE

A full congregation was present morning and evening at the Mother's Day service in the Presbyterian church yesterday. No more impressive or beneficial service has ever been conducted in and La Grande church, and all who were present felt a spiritual uplift at the end of the pastor's sermon, "A Tribute to Mother's Day is destined to become, if not a national holiday, a day that will be kept all over the nation in every church in the land. It will be classed with Easter and Christmas being near to the heart of the nation, and naught but great good can result from its observance.
The music at both services yesterday were inspiring. Every one day was beautiful, and the special present was given each a white carnation, the symbol of Mother's Day, and these were used in saluting the memory of absent mothers, while the hymns were sung. Everyone who attended yesterday's services will be glad when they may again participate in a service sacred to the memory of the mothers of the nation.

PLAY OF DEEP VALUE AT STEWARD

Mr. George Broadhurst, the most successful American author on American subjects, has that wonderful faculty of selecting a subject and plot for all of his plays that not only classes of the theatre-going public understand, but are pleased with as well. "The Mills of the Gods," which the New York critics unanimously voted as being the best work Mr. Broadhurst has given us, comes to the Steward Opera House tonight.
The play deals with the career of a young man with an honest heart but dragged into crime by the villainy of a trusted friend's taking advantage of the discovery of an error committed by his benefactor.

MISS DE PEAT BACK.
Is Here For Brief Stay as Manager of Local W. U. Office.
Miss Nell De Peat is once more in the Western Union office, to temporarily manage the local office. Manager S. C. Hemstreet has asked and has received a transfer in position and as soon as he can turn the office and its books over to Miss De Peat, the former manager, he will take his departure for a new location. This will be within a few days.

Miss De Peat has been employed at the Portland Western Union office since her departure from La Grande. Her stay will be something like three weeks in length, or until a permanent manager can be found and sent here.

Bicycle Stolen.
C. R. Beckley is mourning the loss of a Columbia chainless bicycle today. Saturday afternoon he left the machine in a room back of the J. M. Berry residence, and did not miss it until this morning.

Miss Newton Receives Prize.
Miss Pauline Newton received this morning from the Spokesman-Review a fine guitar as a prize in the contest recently conducted by the paper. Miss Newton feels well repaid for her work, as the instrument is really a fine one, and came in perfect condition.
