WOMAN RUNS FARM.

Eastern Oregon Spinster Cultivates 360 acres in Isolated Section.

HUNTINGTON, Ore.—Managing a farm of 360 acres, living by herself in a sparsely settled neighborhood two miles from Huntington, further isolated by the reason of her Mormon belief, tolling from morning until night with shovel along an irrigation ditch and with horses in light farm work, Miss Alice Durbin, aged 53, native of Oregon, is one of the most unique characters in this section where uniqueness is not a rare thing.

Miss Durbin was the only daughter of C. J. Durbin, a pioneer of this section, who settled on part of the land now owned by his heir, in 1875. At the same time the daughter took a claim of 160 acres adjoining the land of her father, and this land she has owned and improved constantly since. At her father's death she became owner of 200 acres of the old homestead, and throwing the entire tract into a big farm began its management and cultivation.

Of the tract 150 acres are under irrigation, a system of water having been installed at heavy expense by the father and daughter many years ago. The land lies near the Snake river valley and will produce all kinds of fruit and vegetables, making it valuable as well as in need of great care. Yet with it all Miss Durbin manages the farm with tact and profit, lining help during the busy season and renting such tracts as she feels in duty bound to give control to others. But daily, year in and year out, since 1875 this little woman has lived and worked upon the broad acres lying on the bluffs above Snake river.

Best Treatment for Colds.

"Most ordinary colds will yield to the simplest treatment," says the Chicago Tribune, "moderate laxatives, hot foot baths, a free perspiration and an avoidance of exposure to cold and wet after treatment." While this treatment is simple, it requires considerable trouble, and the one adopting it must remain in doors for a day or two, or a fresh cold is almost sure to be contracted, and in many instances pneumonia follows. Is it not better to plan your faith to an old reliable preparation like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, that is famous for its cures of colds and can always be depended upon?
