HAPPERSETT COMES HOME

C. E. Happersett, delegate to the Trainmen's National Convention at Columbus, and who, as stated in the Observer Saturday, was called back to Portland by the critical illness of his father, passed through La Grande last evening en route to Portland. He had attended three days' sessions at the convention when he received the hurried message to return.
At Huntington last evening, he received another message from his wife, who is at Portland, saying that the senior Happersett is in an unconscious state.

DECISION GIVEN IN COVE GAME

By a decision handed down by President Muggley of the Eastern Oregon Amateur baseball league, Cove is tied for first place by Union. The decision is the outcome of a dispute over a squeeze play done at Cove the first game played between Union and Cove. Union was in line to win that game and, they claim, would have won had Empire Childers allowed the run. At any rate Union contested the decision and handed its troubles to Muggley at Baker City. Yesterday Muggley handed down a decision which throws the game off the slate, and ordered it played over at Union on June 5. The game in question, was the only one that Union has lost, hence, until the sawoff is played, she stands on a par with Cove, namely of having won all games played.
The rise of the Union team puts La Grande in second place.
