UNION LOST DOUBLE HEADER AT ENTERPRISE FRIDAY

ENTERPRISE, May 29.—(Special)—Union lost a double-header game here yesterday afternoon, the first one by the score of 1 to 9, and the second 3 to 7. Union came here on Tuesday to play Thursday and Friday, but immediately after the first game was started, rain interfered and it was postponed until Friday when a double-header affair was pulled off. Union was apparently no match for the infant beet pullers. Though superior for two games on the diamond, the Enterprise lads have another chromo coming for the way they entertained the Union team last evening was pleasing to all. A large ball was conducted in honor of the defeated ones and good feeling ran high through it all.

COMMENCEMENT MARKED WITH MANY FINE FEATURES

Life's post-school journey was commenced last evening to 12 students of the La Grande high school when that number was graduated and shoved out on the sea of fortune under auspicious circumstances. In many ways it was a unique and original commencement, for the customary class protests, etc were discarded for truth founded orations and musical numbers to enliven the occasion.

Miss Ruth Bush delivered one of her delightful piano solos immediately after the curtain was lifted on the pretty stage setting. The junior class is deserving of credit for the taste displayed in the matter of decoration. The graduates were housed in a bower of beauty. A 20th century topic, "Going Some" was ably handled by Harry Zubrick who, in a burlesque vein, pictured humorously and truthfully, as well, the tendencies of the times. From self prepared thoughts, the audience was turned to a recitation by Miss Marjorie McCall who upheld the McCall reputation as readers and reciters in admirable style.

One of the weighty orations of the evening came when Henry Heidenrich delivered his oration on the theme, "Wanted, A Man." Not the man with propensities for shovelling large heaps of dirt is the style sought, but the man who dares to say no when he knows he should say no and though the whole world proclaims yes. The school-trained man who has made the best of his opportunities—not the mollycoddle of fashion bent—can answer to the call for "man wanted," and the speaker affirmed, the latent powers in every human being can stand up answer "here," if the facilities before them are seized. The thought was beautiful.

Class history was reviewed by George Vehrs in an attractive manner closing with messages of advice to the juniors, and folded the mantle of the 1909 on the '10 aggregation with to the juniors, and folded the mantle Will Hamilton, responding for the juniors, was well received. His splendid delivery gave added lust to his tribute to the seniors.

Another oration, this time from one of the four girls of the class, the "Value of Criticism" by Miss Ivy Williams. Her insight into the real values of criticism was marked and was one of the literary gems of the occasion. "Hours of Opportunity," was handled by Miss Ethel Redhead and she did the subject credit. Lack of space only stands in the way of dwelling at length on all these gems, for Miss Redhead truly presented kernels of truth in her oration.

"School Days" color came when Charles Reynolds conducted the class presentation of candidates. Each of the graduates was given some token reflective of his or her personal eccentricities, and "Joey" Williamson came back at Charles in turn at the close of the humorous performance. Without any attempt at speeches, Prof. Hockenberry handed out the diplomas. Musical numbers by Sanford Robertson and Marble Green, a vocal solo and a classical violin solo were given by Marble Green and a violin solo by Marble Green and a voca solo by Marble Green and a voca solo by Miss Laura Green were interspersed at frequent intervals.
