KELLY WILL NOT ENTER

Dan Kelly, Baker City's famous sprinter, will not run at the Seattle exposition this year, notwithstanding the fact that press notices from the Washington city have stated that he would take part in the athletic meet, running under Seattle colors. The young man has not yet fully recovered from a badly sprained ankle, and would be in no condition to enter in either the sprints or the broad jump. "Bill" Hayward, Oregon's noted coach, is training the Seattle athletes at American Lake, and has written Dan some very flattering offers in hopes that he would again don the spikes.
Dan predicts a great race in the 100 yard dash. The race will in all probability go to a western man, and unless something extraordinary happens, either Nelson or Huston, Oregon's undefeated champion will carry off the honor.—Baker City Democrat.
