There is nearly as much travel to the coast from the east as there was during March and April when the tourist rates were in effect.

Thursday is Pioneer Day. A good many of our people are beginning to prepare for their lunches. The trains run so that it will be an easy day all around.

We poor beleaguered people who cannot afford to go to the mountains, can console ourselves that the weather is such that it is much more comfortable to remain at home with all the conveniences than it is to go to the mountains and freeze.

CHARTER IS LEGAL

many sensations. Russell fanned and the La Grande team came to bat for the last time. Stoddard, who was errored to first was killed between first and second, and Proe, then on first by a fielder's choice, stole second a few minutes later.

Score by Innings. La Grande—0 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1-5 Elgin—0 0 1 0 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1

The Lineup. La Grande—George, rf; Stoddard, c; Proe, 2b; Bradley, ss; Childers, 3b; Kooser, lf; Cotner and Graham, cf; Woods, lb; Nelson, p.

Nelson never pitched a better game than he did yesterday.

"Slats" Woods has won a home on the initial bag. He was decidedly popular yesterday.

Proe, who is now field captain, was working like a trooper and his energy inspired others to action.

Childers made three running catches yesterday. He, like Proe is a hard worker.

Bradley who is no longer at the helm, intermixes rotten plays and real cute stunts in such a way that fans can't remain sore at him.

Kooser muffed one and got one, the latter coming last leaving him with good favor in fan circles.

Cotner's long pop from center field was a good one, but he lost his hitting eye yesterday and Graham went in during the critical moment of the ninth to do the batting stunt. Graham failed, too.

George in right field got two, one a very difficult one, that averted scores. His usual hitting ability was lacking for Auburn seemed to have him hooked on right.

Stoddard is the hard working kid, and only once when he let Auburn first on a muffed third strike, did he lose his steady gait.

For once this year, the indicator was handled admirably. O'Brien knows his business and the players know that he knows it, so everything went off smoothly.

Hiting features of the game were—Auburn's home drive over the left fence and Proe's two-baggers. Christensen had got third on Kooser's error, a steal and a sacrifice and was brought home by Halgarth's bingle.
