Buys Auto to Help Harvesting.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., John Hoffman, the big wheat raiser, has purchased a new 40 horsepower White steamer runabout, the third automobile bought by him this year, and all of them White steamers.

Early in the spring Mr. Hoffman made the purchase of his first machine-buying another 20-horsepower runabout for his own purpose. Recently his son, who lives on his ranch valuable as an asset on the farm that he appropriated his father's big touring car, and in order to secure its return, the latter presented him with his own runabout.

As the harvest drew near, Mr. Hoffman concluded that a car was indispensable in his work and a short time ago procured the 40-horsepower roadster he is now using in reaching his different ranches, which are situated miles apart and which he can visit daily if he desires, a thing which previously would have been an impossibil-
