Resolution of condolence, 5c a line.

At this season when many visitors are in our city, efforts should be directed in getting them to ascend the hill west of town sufficiently high to gain a view of our city and valley which presents a panorama that for beauty of scenery and commercial activity, has few equals. The new roofs peeping through the green trees, the sound of the hammer and saw speaks as to our growth. The large smokestack of the Palmer Lumber company on the north with its checker board of lumber piles, the sugar factory a little to the right, the flouring mill in the distance, the round house, our public school buildings, the court house, our church spires and compact business district, all speak for themselves more eloquent than words or printed descriptive matter, for the basis of all our prosperity is contained all within reach of the eye. Beyond our beautiful little city lies one of the most picturesque and productive valleys in the Northwest. Its golden fields, its orchards, and prosperous looking farms appeal to the visitor and we should see to it that our visitors are not permitted to leave until they have seen this promised land for themselves, and, by the way, we predict that within our city today there are no less than 1,000 of our citizens who have not looked over the city and the valley this year. Do not put it off any longer, you will be surprised to note how our city has grown, perhaps, since you last went upon the hills and you will become a better booster if such were possible. Do you realize that we are living in a new La Grande! Harmony today prevails.

ARTESIAN WELL FOUND.

Water Spouts Three Feet High on Russell Ranch Today.

A flow of water spouting three feet above the surface of the ground has rewarded the efforts of R. A. West to dig a well on the L. H. Russell farm east of the city, where a spur is being built on to the O. R. & N. mainline. The well is 160 feet deep and the water flows freely over the surface. It is another demonstration of feasibility of deep wells for private purposes in this valley.

WORK NEAR COMPLETION.

Installation of New Jail Will be Finished in Two or Three Days.

The work of installing the new jail at the court house is being rushed to completion very rapidly, and it is thought that the work will be finished in two or three days. The jail is a very fine one, costing the county $3,400. It has four cells and a corridor on the inside.

PRETTY LOVE ROMANCE

To leave home in Southern Oregon, to be pursued and captured and then to escape, to finally reach here and be married while the order for arrest flies on through La Grande to Baker City is the romantic capers indulged in by Miss Maude Kookan, if the rumors floating about the city today are true.

She with Howard L. Clarke, arrived in La Grande yesterday and after some trouble secured the license, and last night at the home of Rev. Ford Ellis, saw another victory recorded for that little warrior Cupid.

Mr. Clarke is a new comer in the valley, arriving here with the Sell-Ploto circus. He liked the valley so well that he severed his connection with the show and located near Alice.

It is said that the bride's parents strongly objected to the wedding, and finding that there was no other way they eloped.

It is learned according to reports that the girl was arrested, but finally effected her escape and they came on to La Grande where their troubles were happily ended. While the young couple were here arranging for the ceremony a message flashed through La Grande to Baker City to stop them, but it seems that those who were trying to stop the ceremony failed to think of La Grande, and hence the happy ending.

IDENTIFY PRISONERS

At a late hour this evening the three suspects nabbed at Pendleton Sunday, and brought to La Grande last evening by Chief of Police Rayburn will be given a hearing before Justice Stewart. One of the three men whom the suspects are charged with assaulting, robbing and locking in a box car here Friday night, has been identified the three. The other two who are employed out in the valley and the police expect them here this evening. If they also identify the men then the trial will come to issue this evening.

Detective Woods of the O. R. & N. has been called to La Grande and he too may bring charges against the men of assaulting a train crew at Huron, the particulars of which was outlined last evening in the Observer.

Woman Overpowered.

NEW KENSINGTON, Penna., August 3.—Battling with two men, and thwarting them in an attempt to rob the railroad station, Ella Clifford, aged 24, the night telegraph operator, at Bretburn road, was overpowered by two thugs, who bound her to a chair where she was found this morning. She was alone at the time of the attack. One pointed a revolver, and the other went through the safe. The woman edged nearer the telegraph key to summon help, but was seized, and after a desperate struggle and tied.

A posse is pursuing.

The letter was mailed one week ago Friday and the party intended to land the next day. Willie writes of having a splendid trip, missing the usual sensation of being sea sick.
