The consummation of the irrigation project will work wonders with that large section of territory lying due east of this city and Cove. There are thousands of acres that with water will support hundreds of homes where few are in evidence today.

There are few cities or counties that have brighter prospects than La Grande and Union county. A drive through the valley is sufficient to cause one to feel proud that they are part of this great prosperous commonwealth.

Some day the owners of large tracts of land adjacent to the city of Union, will make themselves rich, make possible several hundred prosperous homes, which will all add to the upbuilding of Union. This will be the result of cutting up this fine body of land into small holdings.

A drive through the valley, every section, would surprise those who had not given the matter any previous thought, to note the large acreage that is now devoted to alfalfa. The time is near at hand when we will grow more alfalfa than we do timothy.

Walla Walla is to have a plaster paris cast of Marcus Whitman. The cast of this heroic old pioneer will in the near future be seen on the Whitman college campus. The idea was formulated after seeing the Whitman cast in the Walla Walla parade at Spokane. The cast is the largest of its kind ever made in the northwest, and people were surprised to know that an artist of such ability resided in Spokane. A second cast of Whitman is now being made by the same artist. The one that appeared in the parade will be shipped to Seattle where it will go to make up the Walla Walla valley exhibit at the fair. After the fair is over the cast will be shipped back to Walla Walla and put on a sound foundation of the college campus.

In the divorce suit of Helen Kelly Gould against Frank Jay Gould, the statutory limit of ninety days that must elapse between the signing of an interlocutory decree and the final one expired today, and the wife of the millionaire will soon be forever freed from matrimonial relations with her recreant husband.

Frank Jay Gould is the youngest son of the late Jay Gould and is 32 years of age. He was married to Helen Margaret Kelly in 1901 and two children, both girls, were born to them. The sinister fate that has followed the matrimonial ventures of the Goulds early manifested itself in the relations of the young couple, but it was the gay nights spent by Frank Gould in the company of a six-foot English actress, Rose Winter, that led the outraged wife to appeal for a divorce.

October 4th is the opening day of the Union county exposition. Everything is lining up for one of the biggest fairs ever held in the county. There is no question but what the attendance will far exceed any previous record. At first the idea of holding a display of products and live stock upon the streets was looked upon with discredit. It took several years to get this idea crystallized into a possibility. Those who have investigated and become interested soon saw the practicability of the idea and now the producers and growers of produce and live stock readily see that with the holding of the fair in town, easy of access that thousands will attend who otherwise would not. The admission price will have a great deal to do with a large attendance. The average family will not be taxed one dollar. This is a winner and the idea will have the approval of all when once demonstrated.
