AGREE ON COMPROMISE

FAMOUS RUSSELL ESTATE CASE SETTLED BY COMPROMISE.

Compromise And The Plaintiff Is Allowed $3750 From O. R. & N.

A petition was granted yesterday by County Judge Henry, to allow a compromise in the case of J. A. Russell vs. the O. R. & N. The case was where the plaintiff was suing the O. R. & N. for damages for the death of Mr. Russell's son, J. Donald, at Perry some time ago.

The case was tried in the lower court and the plaintiff secured judgment to the amount of $7500. The O. R. & N. then appealed the case to the Supreme Court, where the decision of the lower court was reversed and the case sent back for a new trial.

The contending parties agreed upon a compromise of just half the judgment given in the lower court in the first trial and petitioned the court to allow the same which was done, and the plaintiff was allowed $3750.

WILL ENTER TOURNAMENT

The La Grande aggregation of baseball players will enter the baseball tournament at Prairie City on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week and compete with several other teams of Eastern Oregon for the $600 prize to be awarded. The baseball tossers here will put in some hard practice in the meantime and the best team that can be secured will wear the La Grande blue on those days. Lincoln's aggregation will play the team from Cove here next Sunday.

Fierce Wrestling Match.

SEATTLE, Sept. 2.—The savagest wrestling match ever seen here the Jujitsu match last night between Eddie Robinson of Los Angeles and Togogora Ito of Japan. A half hour of rough work began when Robinson put his hand to the Japs mouth three times knocking out two teeth. Then Ito dived, grappled his opponent and wrestled until Ito with a strange hold choked Robinson to submission. In the second bout, the Jap again used the strangle hold and beat Robinson in three minutes.

GREAT HOST OF PEOPLE STALLED

(Continued from page 1.) and conversing adults. With the arrival of last evening's trains, conditions became serious to them for false alarms were sent out from Huntington to the effect that the trains would be held for 24 hours at least.

Relief Came Soon.

At 9:30 this morning Chief Dispatcher Corbett prepared a bulletin to the effect that the trains would be moved about noon and in the bulletin he set out the facts of the wreck. This obliging information was partly withheld on account of unexpected progress on the scene, and instead of noon the bulletins read 10:10.

No Other Damage.

According to reports received in the local dispatcher's office, the cloud burst occurred in the mountainous country back of Unity, and it was only the aftermath that struck the mainline. No private property is reported damaged. That the freak of nature did not strike a heavily populated district is fortunate, for its appearance was so sudden and so terrific that escape from canyon districts would have been impossible.

The following is the letter announcing the special passenger rates for the Union County Exposition as allowed by the O. R. & N.:
