MANY NEW FARM HOUSES

Spurred on by harvesting bumper crops, farmers have commenced an unprecedented building boom throughout the different portions of the valley. From end to end, several new farm homes and splendid barns are being erected. Not infrequently the residences are cityfied in the extreme, bordering on bungalow types. In the triangle described by imaginary lines from La Grande to Union, Cove and back to La Grande, there is a host of new buildings. Most of them are nearly finished, and invariably are up-to-date affairs.

MINISTER RESIGNS

After three months successful labors as pulpit supply for the South Methodist church of this city, the Rev. J. L. Ireland handed in his resignation last night. The Rev. Mr. Ireland has accepted a position in the Model restaurant, and began work there today. The conference which closed its sessions in Spokane last night has a new man for the La Grande field, but his name has not been learned by the local church. This information will probably be forthcoming tonight.

The Rev. Mr. Ireland hasn't given up the word but wishes to take some further studies in theology before accepting another appointment. He will probably put in many of his Sundays supplying in the county towns while working at the restaurant. At waiting tables he is an adept and can hold the position and utilize his spare moments brushing up along theological lines.

It will be remembered that when the Rev. Ireland came to the local church the field was vacant and in a run-down condition. He has made a good fight against adverse conditions and turns the field over to his successor in a much better condition than that in which he found it. He is only a licentiate and expects to be capable of holding a position of high responsibility after a year of study.

WILKIE TAKES LEAVE.

In Trouble With Mike Ford And Skidoos Before he is Apprehended.

La Grande is shy another of its inhabitants, for Willie Wilkie has taken leave and the officials today are firm in their belief that he will not show up again, for months at any rate. Wilkie attacked Mike Ford last Saturday night, beating him up with artificial knuckles, after a quarrel on the street. Wilkie disappeared immediately and it is not believed that he will appear here again for he is only recently out of the penitentiary.

CARPENTERS AT WORK

A force of carpenters under John Steinbach started to work this morning on the exposition building. Mr. Steinbach said that he would put on as large a crew as he could use to advantage as the time for completing the building is limited. The work will be rushed through the week, rain or shine.

Preparations for the exposition are being pushed all along the line. A call has been made for all members of the entertainment committees of the fair to meet tonight in the Commercial club rooms to put the finishing touches upon the program.

CARAVAN TO BAKER CITY

LOCAL SHRINERS AND COMMANDERY GOING.

Pilgrimage to be Made in Automobile Thursday Morning.

Portland and intermediate point Mystic Shriners are to journey over the burning sands of Oregon to the Baker City mecca next Wednesday night, where the Grand Commandery meets on Thursday morning, and where the Shriners will put on a ceremonial later in the week, but it has resolved itself on the local Shriners and members of the local commandery to take their annual pilgrimage in automobiles. Not caravans on rail steel for these mystics, they have something novel. Anywhere from five to eight automobile loads is the schedule now, and this caravan will leave La Grande early Thursday morning. It is the more important for commandery members to be present early as the grand lodge of that department convenes at 10 o'clock.

The special caravan from Portland, will pass through La Grande early Thursday morning sometime. Just who will comprise the local pilgrims is not yet known, but at least five automobiles will be filled.

Ed Kiddle, past grand master of the grand lodge and C. T. Bacon, commander of the E. O. commandery No. 6, will be the guides to pilot the membership over the hills to the Baker City conclave.
