SAUERKRAUT TIME.

Local Markets Well Filled With Cabbage for Winter Use.

Now is the time to plan the winter's supply of sauerkraut. The cabbage crop is just coming in and hundreds of fine heads are bursting with fatness and must be used at once or spoil. For kraut making purposes these bursted heads are as good as any could be.

All lovers of the Dutch mixture are getting busy with their brine barrels and spades. Cabbage is now selling for $1 per hundred. Some gardeners, however, are selling off bursted heads, which must be used at once, for 75 cents per hundred.

SHADE TREE PRUNING TIME

BOX ELDER VARIETY IS POPULAR SHADE TREE.

Care of Shade Trees Essential And Important Now.

Now that the variegated autumn leaves are falling shade tree pruning time is again at hand, and many of La Grande's fine rows of box elders are feeling the clip of the pruning hook. Experts at the pruning business say that October and November are the best months for pruning shade trees, but June and July are good. Care must be taken, however, in the spring to avoid cutting the trees too soon for in March, April or May the sap is flowing so freely that to cut the branches would cause bleeding.

Local authorities on the subject of La Grande shade trees state that the oldest trees in the city are box elders. The most numerous also are of this hardy variety. Silver leaf poplar seems to be next in favor, especially among the more recent planters. Ash and maple are also found in the city. Taking all the varieties together La Grande is one of the most elaborately and beautifully shaded cities in the Inland Empire.
