Administrator de bonis non will annexed of Frank Milne, deceased. (C-10-11-18-25 N-1-8.)

JUST REFLECT.

It is not necessary to put with the inconvenience of poor sight these days—further more it is foolish to neglect having your eyes properly attended to.

If you suffer from headaches, nervousness, you will find it will pay you to have your eyes examined, as in nine cases out of ten the trouble lies there.

We can give you an expert examination—fit you with the correct glasses if they are necessary.

Willis of Elgin and G. H. Dutton of Minon will give addresses. The afternoon session will be in the charge of the C. W. B. M. In the evening at 7:30 Mrs. Clara G. Esson the Bible School superintendent of the state will present Bible School work. This rally is open for all who desire to attend. Arrangements have been made whereby the delegates from out town will be entertained while in La Grande.

IDAHO FALLS MAN WILL GO INTO FRUIT BUSINESS.

Bryant Farm at Summerville Sold at a Profitable Sum.

Culmination of a deal involving $8,000 took place today when Valentine Mickisch of Idaho Falls purchased 160 acres of general farm land near Summerville from G. S. Bryant. Just now, the land is principally devoted to raising bumper crops of small grain, but immediately the new owner is going to increase the orchard acreage in that section by putting between 40 and 50 acres of his land to orchard.

This farm is one of the choice pieces of land in the Summerville district and the price paid for it is up to the high average, an dis another stepping stone toward the desired goal, that of broken up farms, where the pieces go into fruit land.

The deal was made through the La Grande Investment Company.

HER WEDDING DAY.

(Copied for Nora Fritts on her Wedding day, October 25, by Sallie A. T. Palmer, of this city.)

There is going far away Nora,
In other lands to dwell,
How bitter will the parting be,
How sad to say farewell;
The cords of love to sever,
Which entwine around each heart
And broken once may ever
Keep drifting far apart.

Thy girlhood days have passed Nora,
And thee a loving wife
Are entering now with fulest joy
A new and untrod life;
Thou art wedded to another
Whose love I trust will be Far dearer than all other
For all eternity.

Oh, may thy life be bright, Nora,
I wish thee all the joy,
That wedded bliss alone can give,
And time cannot destroy,
May heaven's own choicest blessings
Fall round your path,
It's winds; thy brow caressing,
Which only sweetness hath.

I know, when distant far, Nora,
And thee has bade farewell
To home and friends, a time will come
When language cannot tell
The thoughts of deepest feeling
That will dwell within thy soul
An anguish past concealing
Will be beyond control.

They will think of thee at home, Nora,
And miss their absent one,
And dream they see her far away
So near the setting sun,
They'll wander if she's weeping,
Bright tears of joy and pain,
And dreams when she is sleeping
Of home and friends again.

Our lines are not all bright, Nora,
For shadows come apace,
And trouble sometimes steal along
And meets us face to face,
But in storms or sunny weather
You will both be good and true,
And thus pass on together
With Hope's bright goal in view.

Yet, may no sorrow, Nora,
O're take thy sweet young life
But may thee be of all things best
A loved and loving wife,
May both your lives be blended
In unison and truth,
Be still the same when ended,
As in the bloom of youth.

A longing for thy home, Nora
For parents, sister dear
For none can fill a parents place
However loved or near;
A husband's love is dearer
Than all the world besides,
But a mother's love is nearer
For naught its depth can hide.

And now farewell dear Nora,
An arm around you is thrown,
A dear one comes to claim his right
And take thee hence his own;
His love will be thy heaven,
Wherever thou may dwell—
Long life to both be given
And bless thee, and, and farewell.
