RAILROAD NEWS.

Comencing at 1 o'clock this afternoon a crew of men went to work on the coal bunkers here to restore them from coal cars. This is a return to the old policy of storing coal here, which was dropped when spontaneous combustion was menacing the entire store supply last summer. The cars are in demand now, and the company will rush in storage coal in great quantities to prevent the useless waste of coal cars.

William Bollins is here today looking after O. R. & N. matters.

Engine No. 386 was turned out of the shops yesterday as good as new.

Engine No. 366 went into the drop pit today and will be fitted with a new set of flues at once.
