"In The Heart of the Hills."
Jolly Della Pringle will stage "In The Heart of the Hills" Monday night in the Stewards opera house and a really artistic performance is promised. The play is one of those good, wholesome comedies, that made you wish for more, and just the kind that makes better men and women. The scenes are laid "way down east" among those wholesouled folk that we love to see and talk about. There is an atmosphere of purity surrounding "In the Heart of the Hills," that clings to the audience, and impresses its goodness on their hearts forever. There is so much splendid comedy in the three acts that one wonders how so many bright sayings could be written in a play and not get tiresome. Miss Pringle and Mr. C. K. Van Auker have the two leading parts and that means an artistic performance. New specialties are put on between acts and special scenery is used. Handsome gowns are a feature. Monday will be bargain night so cut out the coupons and be the first.

Railroad Changes.
Effective January 1, will be a number of promotions in the Harriman system, due to the opening of the Oregon and Washington Railroad Co., the Harriman line which is to run between Portland and the Puget Sound, says the Oregon Telegram.
