John L. Mars yesterday sold his property which has been occupied for several years by a second hand store for $4,800. Many of our readers will remember how seriously Mr. Mars took the occasion of Union county and La Grande going dry. In big display advertising he offered his property at a sacrifice. Eighteen months have passed, Mr. Mars has disposed of his property at market value, the city today contains no vacant store buildings and newcomers are compelled to spend several days in securing vacant dwellings. Our county jail for weeks at a time has been entirely empty and little expensive criminal litigation has occupied our courts since local option was voted. It is true that some liquor is being bootlegged, more than should, the facts are very little continued effort has been consistently made to prevent it. Conditions are better under the new epoch than under the old. Business men have extended credit to men that formerly were denied it, and men have deposits in our banks that formerly were never known to carry a pass book.

A Philadelphia newspaper has advised the farmers of Pennsylvania and the East to visit the orchards of the Northwest, to learn a lesson in fruit culture. It contends that they can raise just as fine a quality of apples on the Atlantic coast, if proper care is taken to prevent diseases and pests. Attention is also called to the attractive manner in which Oregon and Washington apples are sorted and packed, whereas the eastern fruit is dumped into a barrel. It concludes that this is only one of the many lessons that the eastern farmer can learn from his western brother.

If the snow plow had not been invented the big snow bank which held up the trains for several hours yesterday would have tied up transportation for several days. This is the same locality where trains were tied up for three weeks in 1885 and "Dad Moon" and other well known engineers bucked the drifts day after day and hundreds of men were employed to shovel it out. Railroading is no bed of roses these days, but it is vastly different from the pioneer days.

No finer poultry is grown anywhere than in the Grande Ronde. If you doubt this statement visit the poultry show that is being held in the Harris building just opposite the Geddes grocery on North Fir street, and look for yourself and then express your opinion. There is nothing too good for the farmers of Union county and they have the best.

Uncle Jim Hill condemns bad cooking and intimates that the chafing dish is about as bad as the can-teen as a home wrecker.

If our usual spring weather prevails we will have something of a winter in 1910-11. But this is a beautiful winter day and who would change it if they could (this was written at 9:30 a. m.). Sleigh bells are ringing, sun shining bright and the air cool—not cold—and still.

A Kennewick farmer has placed a hot water heating plant in his garden to protect his strawberry beds from frost. This will be accomplished by means of a submerged boiler from which the water will run in pipes to the furrows along the berry rows.

The Lane County Fruit Growers Association has demonstrated by actual experience during the past year, the advantages through organization, in marketing their own products.

The warning of the coal men last summer was heeded by a few of the wise ones while others refused to take their advice and are now paying the penalty—which is $14 a ton for coal, when it can be had.—Baker City Herald.

J. A. Buchanan, a wealthy ranch owner and politician of North Dakota, announces that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor this year.

Nineteen hundred and ten has every promise of being especially active along building lines. Dealers in building material and carpenters and contractors are all planning for a busy year. La Grande has never boomed, last year we did fairly well in the building line but it was what might be termed an off year. These things go that way, and this year many improvements may be looked for in residences and business buildings.

Bay & Zweifel, instead of making hay while the sun shines are making sleighs out of buggies and hacks, while the snow lasts, and they are busy people.

Some men cultivate a spirit of all-roundness. Others cultivate the soil to better advantage.

Real friendship always crops out in unexpected places.

One wagon load of alfalfa sold in Hermiston for $50.

Gold Hill must have a high school building says the News.
Seaside expects far more development than ever before this year.

Tom Moore Home.

Tom Moore, who had a leg broken and was otherwise injured in the wreck at Cascade Locks when two freight trains collided, arrived in Baker last night and is at his home on Resort street. He is now able to be around a little on crutches and hopes to be out on the street in a few days. He considers himself lucky to have escaped more serious injuries and is glad to be home again.—Herald.

There is a Wonderful Difference between the light afforded by an ordinary carbon incandescent and the brilliancy of our new Tungsten lamp. The latter has a metal filament (the tiny wire inside of the bulb) which radiates two and one half times as much light with same amount of electric current.

A 40-Watt Tungsten Affords Twice the Light of the 50-Watt carbon lamp now in general use and cost one-fifth less to burn. We recommend its use to our customers as it more than cuts their light bill in two, making electric light so inexpensive that no home, however humble, and no store, however small, can afford to be without one.
