

FAMOUS SHOW

Of the many new productions presented this season, one of the greatest hits has been made by Arthur C. Alston's company in "As the Sun Went Down," a new Western play by Geo. D. Baker, which will be seen at the Steward on Jan. 31.

The engagement here is arousing a great deal of interest for many reasons. In the first place, Manager Alston is well known in this city, having in the last few years given our patrons many excellent plays, and several prominent stars. His later productions here have been "Tennessee's Pardner," "At the Old Cross Roads" and Jane Corcoran in "Pretty Peggy." "The Freedom of Suzanne," "A Doll's House," and "Hedda Gabler."

As his record always is, as always having given satisfaction to our people, it is not to be surprised that his new production of "As the Sun Went Down" will receive respectful attention. His pride has always been in having a first class company and the new play shows no exception, for it will be headed by Estha Williams, whose work here as "Parepa" the Octoon in "At the Old Cross Roads" is so well remembered, and she will be supported by such well known people as Edwin Walter, W. A. Whitecar, Arthur E. Chatterdon, Phil Connor, Arthur W. Bentley, R. F. Sullivan, Wm. Sexton, Jenny Dunbar, Flora Byam, Margaret Millar, and several others of equal note.

The production, which is a very elaborate one, comes from the best artists of the Lee-Lash Scenic Company, of New York City, each scene being gotten out under the personal direction of W. F. Hamilton, formerly of the firm of Moses & Hamilton. A special baggage car is necessary for the transportation of the Company's scenery and properties.

Manager Alston's name is a satisfactory guarantee of the merit of the performance and the cast, a portion of which is enumearted above, promises to be much in an artistic and a dramatic way.

"Fun!" "Fun!" "Fun!"
Did you ever see a fat woman try to learn to ride a wheel? If you never did and want to have a good long laugh, dont miss this change at the Star for the many amusing incidents which this woman gets mixed in are certainly worth your time as well as the small price of admission, along with this too, are two or more comedy sketches and two other good reels of films. Mr. George sings "Take me back to New York town."

Short Crop of Pedagogues.
New York, Jan. 26.—Three hundred or more new teachers will be appointed as a result of today's meeting of the New York Board of Education, in anticipation of the opening of the second half-year of the session on Feb. 1. Lack of teachers has caused much overcrowding of classes in many of the city schools. Although there are plenty of school-ma'ams on the educational market, the crop of male pedagogues is said to be very short, and the board expects to have difficulty in filling high school vacancies.

Smallpox Prevails.
Postmaster W. J. Lachner, of this city, having been advised of several cases of smallpox contiguous to the post office of Irwin, he has advised the postmaster of that point in case the report is true, to not receive or dispatch any mail from that point and has also advised the stage contractor likewise.—Baker City Democrat.

ON WHEELS AGAIN.

Soft Weather Forces Stages to Replace Running Gear.

After several weeks of excellent sleighing during which time all stages running, out of Baker City have used runners instead of wheels the old mode of transportation will again be replaced tomorrow morning. Today is the last day that coaches will run on sleds. It has been called to mind that this has been an exceptional year insofar as sleighing goes and many a stage driver cannot recall a time in Baker county when they were permitted to see the snow as long as they have this winter—Herald.

Members Attention.

There will be a meeting of the Eastern Star this evening and all members are urged to be present as
