

What it Costs to Run the Maxwell

This big 5 passenger, 30 horse power touring car can be run 5000 miles at an average cost of $3.64 per week

Figures Based on Facts

When we tell you that this big handsome Maxwell touring car can be run 5000 miles a year at an average cost of $3.64 a week or $189.50 a year we are not theorizing. These figures include the total cost of gasoline, oil and grease required to run this car 5000 miles, the cost of punctures and the cost of repairs. Experience shows this to be a correct average, established by Maxwell owners. How can we better show the low cost of keeping a Maxwell than in giving in dollars and cents just what 5000 miles of motoring cost this owner. Read this letter—one of hundreds we receive unsolicited.

"During the past season I have driven my car 5000 miles by the odometer, averaging approximately 100 miles a week. My experience has shown that this car can be run 5000 miles a year at a total cost of $3.64 per week.

Buying a Warranty

Did you know that placing your reliance up a warranty deed is simply bidding for a lawsuit?

In California this fact is so well understood that a warranty deed is looked upon with suspicion.

It is for this reason:

If the title is good it passes with the deed, and that it all there is to—no need of a warranty. If bad, the adding of a warranty does not make it good.

A warranty is only a sort of bet—a wager that you will have no trouble; but if you do, and finally lose out, I'll pay your money back.

A better plan is to require an abstract. Consult

VALUABLE EQUINE AT HOT LAKE

DOCTOR PHY OWNS VALUABLE RIDING HORSE

Schooled to perfection, horse has scores of fine stunts.

Hot Lake has another attraction. Automobiles are no longer the style there. A horse has been granted the place of honor. Not just an ordinary roadster, but an educated horse, and one which has been awarded a diploma of honorable and merited mention. It is the personal property of Dr. W. T. Phy and is a present to him from his friend Mr. J. P. M. Richards, President of the National Trust bank of Spokane, Washington.

This equine beauty is registered in the records of the A. S. H. A. as Starlight King No. 1990 and looks every inch the Kentucky thoroughbred that he is. Starlight is 16 hands high and weighs nearly 1200 pounds. His color is a rich chestnut sorrel. So far as conformation is concerned he is almost perfect. He has been pronounced by one of the best veterinary surgeons in the state of Washington as absolutely sound and without blemish.

Starlight's accomplishments are many. He has been taught the various gait stunts known to educated saddlers, besides the scores of tricks and fancy stunts practiced by circus horses. He will walk or two-step at the command of his master, and at a signal so slight as to be imperceptible to the keenest observer, suddenly change to a gallop or a canter, or, if commanded, will kneel for his rider to either mount or dismount, and at a word will lie down or execute some maneuvers. While he is as gentle as a kitten, he has the proud bearing and graceful strength of the Arabian stallion.

At the Alaska Youkon Pacific exposition he was the leading attraction at the horse show where he was a universal favorite, and was awarded the first prize as the best educated High School horse on exhibition. It was here that Mr. Richards first saw Starlight and conceived the idea of purchasing him for the express purpose of presenting him to Dr. Phy.

A few days ago he was presented to the Doctor by Mr. J. E. Mason, through whom the horse was purchased. Mr. Mason remained at the Lake just long enough to acquaint the doctor with the code of signals necessary to govern the horse.

Prior to disposing of the horse to Mr. Richards the J. E. Mason Co. refused an offer of $1500 for the horse, and therefore it is safe to say that Dr. Phy is the proud possessor of the most valuable saddle horse in Oregon.

When the roads are in condition the doctor will undoubtedly take a great delight in exercising him along the many beautiful driveways adjacent to Hot Lake and it is certain that much of his recreation periods will be spent in company with Starlight King, the most accomplished High School horse in the state.

Company to Tour Europe.

When "The House of a Thousand Candles" closes its season in Albany New York, on May 15, the company will be allowed one week's rest in New York and then sail for England, Mr. Gaskill having just completed arrangements with the Lyceum theatre, London, whereby the play will be presented with the entire American cast, beginning June 1st. Although there have been many American plays that have proven dire failures before British audiences it is expected that this play will be a lasting success, for it contains just the elements that appeal not only to the American but to the British.

The House of the Thousand Candles will be the attraction at the Steward on Feb. 26.
