TWO COUGARS ARE KILLED

TWO MONSTER SPECIMEN ARE BAGGED NEAR UNION.

Brought here and are certainly wonderfully large ones.

Two of the finest specimens of cougars seen in this city were brought to La Grande today by Messrs Stover and S. T. Goodsey of Union. The animals were shot in the woods near Union and were brought over to this city to claim the bounty. One of the splendid pelts was purchased by George L. Cleaver. The size of the animals and the circumstances under which one was killed make them items of interest.

Mr. Goodsey was tracking cougar in the mountains near Union and after having gotten a shot at one, which when shot at, turned tail and fled, was attempting to get another bead on the animal. In doing so he passed under a tree with low hanging branches and at a point eight feet away stopped to retie a shoe-string. While doing so, he happened to glance upward and saw the monster cougar calmly studying him from one of the lowest branches. To kill him at short range was but the work of a moment. He had passed under the animal within easy reach of it. The bounty is $10.00 for each. They measured seven feet long when warm, and even when cramped up and stiff are over six feet, six inches long. While they have not been weighed, it has been conservatively estimated that 125 pounds is the weight of the male, and the female a trifle less than that. The county bounty will be claimed tomorrow.

BIG PRICE FOR LANDS

ASTONISHING RISE IN VALUES
REPRESENTED

A tract of land was sold this week of 120 acres, four miles northeast of Imbler for $10,000. This is a portion of the old Bennett 1100 acre farm that seven years ago sold for $10,000.

This tract has been divided and sold for $27,000, a raise in value of $17,000 within seven years. Mr. Ricks was the purchaser of the 120 acre tract, without improvements, paying $90 per acre. Considering location, this is thought to be the highest price paid for land in the Grande Ronde valley. This may be debated, however, as other tracts have brought higher prices. This is a good farm and was not purchased by a stranger but by a man who owned and farms adjoining land.

ing any proposition from the strikers save that of unconditional surrender. Few cars are being operated today and each is accompanied by a heavy guard of policemen.

With an appearance of the first car the rioting resumed. The mob was dispersed after a brisk clash with the police. Four hundred additional policemen were sworn in today.

A car was stalled in the Kensington district and in the riot which followed, Frank Kalb and Walter Stead, two boys, were seriously injured. Stead will probably die.

Murphy appeared at the strike headquarters this afternoon and denied that he had called a general strike.

He said the misconception arose when he sent letters to the Unions asking views as to a general strike.

Scores of rioters were beaten by the police in a great riot that occurred in front of the postoffice. Revolver shots were exchanged and two women were injured. The state troops routed a mob earlier.
