Heinze Trial to Begin

New York, March 3—On today's calender of the criminal branch of the United States Circuit Court appears the case of the United States against Fritz Augustus Heinz, charged with misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National Bank. There are two old indictments against the former "copper king" one found in January 1808 and the other in June, 1909, the first containing thirty count and the last only one. John B. Stanchfield is Heinze's counsel and has repealedly urged that his client be tried as soon as possible.

STREET WORK IS CONSIDERATION

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT PAVE ITS PROPERTY HERE.

Macadam instead of Bithuletic on Elm is suggested by taxpayers

Most of the time of the session of the council last evening after the reading of the monthly bills, was devoted to street improvement. Messrs Oliver and Bohnenkamp appeared before the council and suggested that macadam for Elm street would provide sufficient improvement and it could be installed much cheaper than bithuletic or asphaltum. The council will consider the suggestion.

Several new improvement districts were ordered and the engineer was directed to submit his specification and estimates on those already ordered.

Another carload of pipe was ordered for the water dipartment to be used in the construction of mains, petitions for such having been filed for some time.

A communication from the government stated that it had no appropriation for street improvement and it should not be expected. This was in respeonse to a notification of the proposed street improvement abutting the site for the Federal Building. The matter was referred to the city Attorney.

Next Wednesday night the council will meet again.

One Night More

There is one more night of the revival meetings at the Central Christian church. Whiston preaches this evening on the subject, "Paying the Price" These meetings have lasted about four weeks. Because of the union meetings which are to begin next Sunday it is though best to close the meetings. Whiston has won the confidence of the people of the city by clear and frank sermons. Longman's sweet solos have captured the admiration of his hearers. The church has been strengthened by the coming of this team. Tomorrow evening a reception will be tendered the evangelists.

HOCKENBERRY IN THE CITY

Visits former stamping ground while transacting business here.

H. J. Hockenberry, now an architect in a Portland ofice, arrived on the late train yesterday afternoon and is here today the guest of friends During the morning he visited the La Grande schools where he was the principal for many years and his former students greeted him with vociferous applause and warm receptions. Disabled train service prevents Mr. Hockenberry from going to Wallowo county, and he plans to return to Portland tonight and return to Eastern Oregon again as soon as traffic resumes the normal again.

Sanatorium Patient Doing Well

Mr. Smith of Alicel arrived last night to receive treatment at the Fourth street Sanatorium, opened recently and operated by Mrs. John Snodgrass. He is doing nicely today under the efficient care given him at the institution.

NUMBER 10 ANNULLED.

Passenger train now carrying mail instead of Number 10.

For the present, while the tracks are liable to be washed out and speeding is not advisable, Number 10, the fast mail, which runs at terrific speed, has been annulled and Number six, the regular passenger train, is carrying the mail. This arrangement brings Portland mail to La Grande a little later in the day but does not jeapordize the crews that run the mail trains at enormous speeds on tracks [illegible] soft and treacherous.

Has Milked 75,000,000 times

Franklin, Vt. March 3—Dolphus Dewing, who although 80 years old, still milks 30 cows a day, estimates that during his life he has milked not less than 75,000,000 times. He has milked from a score to a hundred cows almost every day since he was ten years of age.

GOOD HIGH SCHOOL ESSENTIAL THING

TALK SHOWS THAT HIGH SCHOOL IS ABOVE ALL.

Action to float school bonds taken at busy session last night

Oh, it is nice to be a public servant in a municipal capacity. Last night the board of school directors held a session until midnight.

It arranged for the floating of the $75,000 bonds voted last Saturday, and a general round table talk covering the situation generally was held for several hours. No definite action was taken, but in talking with the board members, or at least some of them, the idea prevails that the first and important thing is to build and equip a first class high school, and unless some change of opinion follows, the location will be on the present grounds on the hill. Within a short time another meeting will be held and a more definite decision be made.

The board realize the necessity of pushing the work to an early completion and if possible have the new building and the improvements to the other buildings in readiness for the beginning of the fall term.

KREIGER A CANDIDATE

Will oppose M. K. Hall in third ward by action late today

At the eleventh hour of the time assigned for candidates to make known their candidacy for city offices, another councilman candidate has appeared when George Kreiger, present councilman from the third ward, filed his petition for the third ward. This gives Mayor M. K. Hall opposition in the trird ward as there already is in the first. The second and fourth are single unless at the very latest hour tonight other candidates appear.

Filing time expires tonight.
