NEW CUT-OFF

to the river where the road passes. The maps will be forwarded to the Secretary of the Interior and permission asked for a right of way across that portion of the lands crossed that belong to the public domain. Privately owned land will be secured by the usual method.

The map shows the cut-off to be 22.84 miles in length and it is estimated that about 23 miles will be cut off of the total distance to Portland from La Grande.

While there are several rumors afloat it is apparent that the La Grande freight division will be from La Grande to the new town west of Umatilla, whatever the name may be. Some Say Stanfield

One report that is given considerable credence is that the division point will be Stanfield, reducing the La Grande division instead of adding to it as would follow in the former case. While Superintendent Bollins was here today and personally filed the maps, nothing could be learned as to the plans of the company in this respect. Umatilla will be on the Washington division main line if the division point is placed at or near Coyote. Otherwise, it is not likely such will be the case.
