LION AND THE MOUSE

TITLE SIMPLE BUT STORY IS THRILLING

Graft politics love and various other elements play part

In the remark of a federal judge who was recently offered the nomination of one of the greatest political parties after finding a certain trust a number of millions of dollars, "For God's sake leave me my judicial honor, manhood and respect of my friends," we have the keynote of Charles Klein's great play, "The Lion and the Mouse" which comes to the Steward on March 22d. This is one of the many recent instances which demonstrate beyond cavil that Mr. Klein did not begin to touch the center of reality when he wrote his great drama which has kept the people of the entire country talking for the past three years. The stage and press in reference to recent graft investigations have used this play which Henry B. Harris had the wisdom to produce as texts for sermons and editorials, and lately the President of the United States was urged to use the lesson taught by the "Lion and the Mouse" as a campaign document.

CAROLINE ELBERTS

Leading lady with "The Lion and the Mouse"

It is over three years since the play had its premier, but a brief resume of the play may not be inappropos. John Burkett Ryder, the unscrupulous money king of the world, is thwarted in his plans by Judge Rosmore or the United States Supreme Bench. Ryder resolves to ruin both financially and in reputation the honest jurist. The former wreck has been accomplished when Shirley Rosmore, his daughter, and Ryder's only son, Jefferson, return from an European trip. They met abroad and had fallen in love. The girl, learning of her father's impending disgrace, sets about to save his reputation and becomes a member of the money baron household. How the lion succumbs to the mouse is unfair from the dramatist's standpoint to reveal.

Miss Elberts will be seen in the role of Shirley Rosmore and Walter Edwards is dealing with the part of Ryder. It is claimed by the critics that Mr. Harris is this season sending the best company yet seen in Mr. Klein's drama.

PAY LESS— DRESS BETTER

WHY, of course, you would like to do this but you ask how it is to be done. Let me tell you:

Haven't you noticed every day the lady or man whose clothes seemed to be just a little better than the ordinary. The style seemed to be more in vogue and the fit perfect. And you've noticed, too, that this person's clothing looked as good as new for months after your clothing had lost its shape, worn full of holes and the color faded. THIS PERSON BOUGHT QUALITY.

Quality Is Cheapest
