MEETS BROTHER IN SALEM CELL

HUDSON, SENT UP FROM HERE, LOCATES RELATIVE.

Ascertained that both men are deserters from the navy.

To meet his brother within penitentiary walls within an hour, that he was himself being shown of his civilian's clothes and supplied with prison garb, is the story of Hudson the man sent up by Judge Knowles for a year for stealing clothes from an engine here. Hudson is the man who gave his spare moments to writing verse while in the local jail.

Night Officer McLaughlin, who took Hudson to Salem, relates the story of brother finding brother. It seems both were deserters from the navy, having accompanied Evans' fleet on the trip around the Horn. Later both deserted. Hudson drifted La Grande-ward and got into trouble, but in the interim, his brother, also a deserter, had committed a bit of larceny and was put in prison. While the locally known Hudson, knew of his brother's incarceration, he had no idea of finding him in the Oregon penitentiary. The meeting in Salem was a genuine surprise to both of them.

Men Patrol Pipe Line

Three men, patrol the Beaver Creek pipe line continually, each man having a different section of the distance to traverse. As far as can be learned the pipe is withstanding the high floods in the mountains satisfactorily.

Still Working With Engines.

The two engines 385 and 215, run in on the hill and thrown in the river respectively at Mission Sunday, are still in the hands of rescuers. They have not been pulled from their positions.

No. 100, 18c—2000 Yards

Did you ever hear of such a thing as this before? A good quality ribbon in all colors, 3-4 inch wider than two columns of this news-paper; almost five inches wide—18c. Narrower widths in proportion. Sale starts Saturday at 10 a. m. Not a yard will be sold before that time. The Golden Rule Co.

Good Friday Buns Here.

Hot Cross Buns, that old English Good Friday food stuff, is being placed in stock by local bakeries and will be on sale tomorrow (Good Friday). The Hot Cross Bun is rapidly becoming a popular Good Friday food stuff, as it already is in New York and other cities. In England and Germany, Denmark and other European countries, it is almost the exclusive food for Good Friday. Believing last year's demand for this particular bun will be renewed and increased this year, bakeries are preparing to meet the demand.

OBERRAMMERGAU ON ITINERARY

DUTLI FAMILY LEAVES NEXT WEEK ON TOUR

Will witness Passion Play and visit with relatives there.

Fred Dutli, the Fir street baker, is preparing to leave next Wednesday for New York and from there sets sail on the 11th of April for Germany where he and his family will spend six months with relatives and friends. While in Germany they will witness the passion play at Oberammergau, this Spring, a sight that falls to the lot of only a few from this section of the world.

Germany is the native country of Mrs. Dutli and she is anxiously waiting the time when she can again wander over the familiar spots in the "Fatherland" where she was born.

Mr. Dutli is a native of Switzerland and he too will visit his home land.

During their absence Mr. Leonard will conduct the bakery here.

Revivalist Misused

Porterville, Calif., March 24.—A riot which lasted nearly all night was started in church here last evening when Leroy Lomax an evangelist, declared the morals of the women in the town were lax. During the progress of the rioting Clark was chased through the streets to the hotel by a crowd and rotten egged. Later he was invited to leave the town. If he attempts to speak again lynching is not improbable.
