Allice News

East Hill Side, Allice, March 20—
(Special)—The water is gradually going back into its banks and the people are glad to see it going down on account of the Mail Delivery being shut off from Allice. The water also did a great deal of damage to the grade which made it impossible to cross for a while.

A number of people have put their stock in the pastures, which is considered good for this time of the year.

A number of phones were out of order during the electrical storm on Tuesday of this week.

There were some light water spots which damaged the county road by filling it with rock this week.

Mr. Claud Willey and wife and Mr. Bud Davis and wife went to La Grande and Perry to spend Easter with relatives and friends.

Mr. U. G. Keeman left the Hillside on Sunday to go the Joseph in Wallowa county to assist Contractor Douglas of that place during the summer. His wife expects to join him in about two weeks.

There are not many people plowing on account of the ground being too wet.

A number of the people of this vicinity drove to Imbler to see the O. R. & N. demonstration train last Wednesday and all reported it being a success.

There were Easter services at the Ward Strable school house on Easter Sunday.

Mr. William Currey of Imbler is spending a few days at the home of Mr. J. A. Richardson.

Mr. W. D. Grandy of La Grande drove to Imbler and Cove Sunday.

Camden Horse Show Opens

Camden, S. C., March 20.—The season of open air horse shows was inaugurated today with the opening of the annual exhibition of the Camden Horse Show Association. Show horses from many of the noted stables of the East and South are included in the entries this year and from all indications the show will go on record as the most successful ever given under the auspices of the Association. Judging commenced this afternoon and will continue until the close of the exhibition tomorrow.

CLOSING NUMBER GOOD

Crisp, catchy, dashing, mirthful, truthful and busy—all this and more can truthfully be said of the Redpath Bureau College Singing Girls and Mr. Walter Eccles, who appeared at the L. D. S. Tabernacle last night in the last number of the course this year. The long program runs along without a hitch or without intermission and the performers "go at" grand opera arias and excerpts with the same degree of confidence and ability that they have over some familiar college ditty. The majority of numbers were presented in a way so new and refreshing that it fairly snapped and crackled like a new shirt front, and the reason of it was that every musical rendition, except the grand opera sketches, were given with a graceful lot of "work." Some might say that the "work" had earmarks of comic opera but it did not. It merely helped permeate the atmosphere of the auditorium with a soothing, delightful disposition in the audience. Eccles' readings were excellent—excellent through simplicity.

In the "heavier" productions, the Sextette from "Lucia," excerpts from other grand operas, the "Boloro" and "Fortune Telling Trio" were especially well rendered. Classical musical ability prevailed in every number.

The lecture course is over for the year and already a new and better one for next year is assured. This is in a way a new venture for La Grande and the unqualified success that has been voted on every number of the course signifies that La Grande likes Lyceum Numbers and next year will support it even more generously. Ford Ellis, the individual whose personal work, backed by financial support from the citizens, made the course possible, has much credit due him and like the prime mover in every good cause, he has not been appreciated until it was all over. The next individual or association attempting to arrange a similar or better course, will have unstinted support from everyone.
